The True Meaning of Education

—By Ethel Twitty

Education is the whole set of changes produced in a person by learning. An educated person knows more than an uneducated person, and he knows how each little piece of knowledge is connected with every other piece. An educated person can do many difficult things which an uneducated person cannot do. He even does the simplest little things with more skill. The educated person usually has higher ideals, better control of his emotions, a friendly spirit, and intelligent purposes, because he knows that education is more than learning, it is a way of life.

Being educated does not necessarily mean attending schools for many years, even though it is the best way. Most learning does come as a result of being taught, but many things are learned through experience or self-education. Besides schools, self-education is the most valuable. You can do this by imitating others, by taking part in what they are doing, and by trying out your own ideas.

By trying out your own ideas, whether you succeed or fail, you will have had an experience, which is another way in which you can learn. If you went to the bus depot to catch the bus and discover that you were ten minutes late, would you go the next day at the same time, knowing that the bus has gone.

As a result of your learning in schools, self-education and experience, you should have the characteristics of the educated person such as being able to work easily with others, open minded, a lover of beauty and always ready to learn.

Roman Learns Greatest Grooming Secret from Modern Male

—By V. H. Tarnum

(The tale below recounts the travels of a Roman of Caesar's time to 1961 where he learns that good grooming does wonders)

Reverse history, we call it.

A citizen who lived just before rambunctious Rome decline and fell was a lass-loving gent called S. Barberitis and one day while chasing some pulchritudinous protoplasm down an alleyway fell as he was about to clutch her.

He knocked his noggin against the cobblestones and before you could say "VHT is clear and clean" he was out. He then pulled a Bunyanesque Rip Van Winkle and snoozed slap through Nero's fiddling, the Battle of Tours, Lady Godiva's sashaying, Waterloo, Ponce de Leon's treasure hunt, the Salem Witch trials, the Thaw-White case, and the Vamperneering of Theda Bara.

When S. Barberitis awoke, it was in the great American mid-west near a large University in the year 1960. His first view was a sweater and a skirt with a girl in it, her blonde hair lifting in the breeze as she swept swiftly past, intent on catching a young man ahead whose arm was firmly clasped by a gorgeous red head.

This traveller from an antique land felt then he was in strange territory but the sight he was witnessing could be applicable to any time, anyplace. He envied the youth, who had not one but two lovely ladies chasing him like Jason after the Golden Fleece.

Citizen Barberitis was analytical. He would stalk the man until he was free from the ladies and ask Murrow-to-Murrow, what constituted his magnetism.

An hour later he got his chance. The man told the girls, "Gotta chow down. First one here in an hour can take me to the movie". Both girls smiled, eagerly anticipating the sixtieth minute from then.

"Citizen", asked Barberitis, "May I inquire your charm? Where? . . . How?"

The young man smoothed his hand over his hair and replied, "Haven't you heard about Vaseline Hair Tonic? We call it VHT and it keeps you well-groomed all the time and the girls latch onto you like white on rice".

The citizen was guided into the dormitory and the young man explained that VHT was an oil based tonic, or 100% pure grooming oil. It works best with water; therefore, it's the best tonic to use. Water and VHT go together as naturally as a guy and a gal, the Roman Rip was told.

VHT users are friendly people so the man gave S. Barberitis the bottle and watched him as he applied it to his tousled locks. Thanking the modern man, the Roman Rip was left.

On the street, at day long he is and in a moment he was as giddy as an inebriated bird on a three-day pass from her cage. She pounced on him and he wallowed in joy. A second girl came, lured to him as if he were the omnipotent Siren. Quickly, for the sport of it, he made like a harrassed harrier. The first lass tackled him and he fell, rolling against the curb, knocking his head.

He felt a warm soft hand rubbing his head and brushing dirt from his toga. He looked up. It was the damsel he had been a-fetching before he took the historical excursion. She stared at his hair in total admiration. He looked at his hand which clutched a bottle of VHT and smiled contentedly as if he were P. D. Leon just discovering the big old fountain.

March of Dimes research scientists are seeking the answers to 600 different birth defects which affect more children in this country annually than any other cause except accidents. About 250,000 children, or one in every 16 babies, is born with a significant defect.

On the Yearbook Cost

—By Charlotte Young

The Prairie View A. and M. Student body was slow in supporting the Year Book drive. The deadline for purchasing a yearbook was extended three times in order that students would have adequate time to purchase yearbooks. We all realize that the main cause for the slow purchasing of the yearbook was due to insufficient funds.

However, in the general election held last May, we voted for including the yearbook cost in our entrance fees; but for some reason they were not. Thus, the unending problem of how to pay for the yearbook still confronts us.

In order to prevent this type of thing from happening in the future, we should begin personal campaigns now to get the yearbook cost included in entrance fees. Let's get to work.

Veterans and Club 26 Push March of Dimes

The Progressive Veterans Club and Club 26 are currently pushing the New March of Dimes Drive here on campus. A total of $187.51 was raised at a dance given in the gymnasium earlier in the month, and Tomie Allen, chairman of the fund-raising drive, has reported that in other efforts to raise funds the response has been good.

Dr. C. A. Wood is faculty coordinator of the drive for the Prairie View community.

Despite the highly effective Salk polio vaccine developed through the March of Dimes, more than 85,000,000 Americans at the beginning of the 1960 polio season had neglected to get their full series of shots. Of these 6,000,000 were children under five, the group most vulnerable to polio.

THE YEAR WE LIVE IN

by Salsa Windom

This is 1961 — a year of hopes, a year of frustrations. This is the year Dwight D. Eisenhower ends his eight years of serving as President of the United States, and the year John F. Kennedy is inaugurated to take his place. This is the year where traces of world tension may be found in Cuba, Laos, the Congo, and Algeria. This year marks the one-hundredth anniversary of the start of the American Civil War. This is the year we live in.

What does this year mean for Prairie View? This year will see the coronation of another Miss Prairie View, as elaborate and colorful as ever. It will see another Honors Convocation with deserving students receiving due recognition for their past efforts. It will see the A Cappella Choir again touring the Western United States, giving outstanding performances and upholding the institution's tradition of quality. This year means that many speakers and visitors will come to our campus to enlighten all and further promote our true objective, acquiring knowledge. It also means that the new science building will be completed and opened for classes. On the whole, it appears that Prairie View will profit greatly from this year. At least, it is hoped so.

What does this year mean for students in general? It means that some students will study hard and pass all subjects, while others will use their time unwisely and fail in a course or more. How can this be prevented? Obviously, by studying and understanding. This is the choice before us — this is the year we live in.

AS I SEE IT

by Efton Geary

There is a direct relationship between a cultured man and his academic achievement. This being so, then, there is a need to have this reflected to the student in such a manner that he will be able to see that culture is brought about through a learning process. This thing called education, if not guided properly where culture is concerned, can come out to be useless to the individual.

The results can be that you will have a person specializing in cultural behavior and an expert in good manners but flunking academically. The reverse can also happen. However with the proper guidance neither will ever happen. But then there is going to be the case where an individual or individuals get off the track. This can happen to anyone for we are only human, and by being this it is only natural that we will drift from time to time. But there is a certain — one will most likely return to his early ways.

Possible Remedy for Achievement

Somehow it seems that something is wrong with our academic achievement. Some people believe that college isn't meant for everyone. I believe this too, but I also believe in weeding out and closer testing, not to stop a student from going to college, to insure the student is in the right field.

I believe a possible remedy for this would be to add more advisors to each department in order that they may be able to make a constant check on each student. There can be a greater enforcement of rules governing delinquents. What we should look at is not how many students are attending college but how many are achieving. A weed will live along side a flower any day but one day the weed will eat up the flower and what will you have? (a weed)

"The Darkness of Life"

—By Grace Loyce Middleton

Why should every breath of life be spent in sorrow because ones days grew dark?

Because the one heart I dared to love has suddenly turned to stone, and the love I now give is considered wrong? Should I live on in this world of solitude or rest, or rest beyond the tomb and there confess?

For here upon this earth I find no rest, for every sight I see and every sensation I feel leaves me no peace of mind but yet to the memory of you I am bind.

To love you on and yet not have your love, to see you but yet not feel your touch, there is no punishment more terrible than this.

But live on my love, be happy but to me see sorrow, be gay, yet cry for me tomorrow. Live on my love live on, for soon the tomorrows for you and I will be gone.

If You Want Me

—By John Weldon Berry

The reason I have never said. . . .How much I think of you. . . .Is just because your heart might doubt. . . .And you may still be doubtful that. . . .My sentiments are true. . . .And you may still be doubtful that. . . .You mean so much to me. . . .In every dream of days to come And every memory. . . .I have been afraid. . . .And so I am today. . . .That you might smile politely, dear. . . .Then turn your head away. . . .But now I want to take the chance. . . .And truthfully declare. . . .You are the only one with whom. . . .This life I want to share. . . .Accept me or refuse me, dear. . . .However you may feel, my heart. . . .Will still belong to you.

I Believe

—By Johnnye Louise Reed

I believe in the values of education is the foundation of democracy. Within this structure we must realize the importance of diversity. Admitting that education needs criticism for its own improvement. The main hope for America and for democracy lies in the perfection of an education.

I believe that a philosophy of life is basic in education, that one cannot teach profoundly and constructively without such a philosophy. Our educational philosophy ought to be human, guided by the spirit of compassion and mercy.

I believe that standards are secondary, for, man forms his own values. Every generation will create its own standards, thus forever reforming the future.

I believe that every student has a creative spark. The development of this spark is our most sacred task. This spark makes us truly human, gives continuity to existence, and gives hope for the future.

I believe that education can only prosper in an atmosphere of freedom, and that freedom can never be maintained by authoritarian means.

I believe there are no poor students, only unmotivated students.

I believe that ignorance in our time is perhaps the worst form of immorality. Morality demands constant self-examination on the part of the student. There is a close relationship between education and religion, education being one of the great signs of the spiritual nature of man.

I believe, in short, that education represents the kingdom of God on earth.

Letters to Shirley

—By Shirley Woodkins

Dear Shirley,
My parents are in an awful strain trying to send me to college. They are getting old and need to be putting some of their money up for old age, however they insist that I go to school and get my education. When I try to suggest that I stop school and get a job they won't hear it. What should I do? I want to help my parents out and I want to go to school also.

Unfortunate

Dear Unfortunate,
There are so many with the same problem as yours so don't feel alone at all. I can only suggest that you apply for a job here on the campus while you are in school. This way you can help to pay for your education.

The National Student Defense Loan is another aide offered to students who are in need of it. You could check with the chairman of this organization and see what he could do for you.

Shirley

Dear Shirley,
I am a senior graduating in January. I have received my letter stating that I am eligible and all of the other necessary information. Now that I am about to leave and seek life for myself I am getting cold feet. I don't know if I am going to make it on my own or not. Could you give me a few words of advice?

Cold Feet

Dear Cold Feet,
I would like to refer you to a song entitled "You Can Make it if You Try." The only thing that you have to do is believe in yourself and apply the knowledge you have received throughout these years and everything will be all right.

Shirley

Dear Shirley,

I have a professor I believe is going to flunk me simply because of personal dislike. What should I do?

Afraid

Dear Afraid,

I think this personal dislike situation is all in your mind. No teacher in college is harsh enough to do a thing like that to a student. Go back and check on yourself and see if you have been putting forth your best efforts in this class. Also arrange a conference with this teacher and discuss how you feel with him, maybe the two of you can solve your problem.

Shirley

Dear Shirley,

How do you get people to like you that do not like you?

Puzzled

Dear Puzzled,

You don't.

Shirley

Dear Shirley,

We have been here almost a whole semester and I haven't found a boyfriend yet. What should I do to find one?

"Lonely"

Dear Lonely,

Stop trying to find one and maybe one will find you. O. K.?

KATHRYN WEISNER

Girl of The Month

—By Emily Jean Mays

Because this month is highlighted with Miss Prairie View's Coronation Ball, who else could be the girl of this month besides Miss Prairie View herself. As the spotlight focuses brightly, we see Miss Kathryn Weisner, a senior majoring in Elementary Education and minoring in Library Science. She is a native of Karnack, Texas.

Miss Weisner has given us an excellent representation this year with her many charms and radiant personality. In previous years she has excelled in both academic and social events.

In her Freshman year she was a member of the Y. W. C. A. In her second year she became a member of the Kappa Omega Beta Social Club. In her junior year she became Miss Scabbard and Blade and she also was the candidate for Miss Veteran, Miss P. V. Relays and many others.

Among her academic honors, the fact that Miss Weisner is a continuous member of each semester Honor Roll. She was invited to be a member of the nationally known Alpha Kappa Mu Honorary Society, of which she is presently the president of the local chapter. She was also chosen as a member of Who's Who Among Students In American Colleges and Universities.

Miss Weisner's hobbies are reading and writing. For the future, she hopes to take her place in society for the betterment of the human race.

Looking Your Best in The Clothes You Have

—By Johnnye Louise Reed

Do you look as attractive as you can? Looking attractive does not depend on natural beauty and many clothes. Some beautiful girls with many clothes are not really as attractive as some girls who are not beautiful and have only a few clothes. Can you think of some girls of your acquaintance, who are very attractive although they are not naturally beautiful and do not have many clothes?

The way we wear our clothes and the care we take of our appearance determine how attractive we look. A new garment inappropriate to the occasion on which it is worn may be unpleasantly conspicuous but an old dress may be attractive if clean and neat and is suitable for the time and place it is worn. A beautiful face may not be noticed if its owner has an ugly posture. A figure with minor faults can still look well if it is held erect. Poorly arranged hair or dirty hands can disfigure anyone.

Sam Cooke Waxes "Hits of the '50s"

The years of the 1950's produced what most critics agree were some of the loveliest ballads of recent times. 1960, these experts also agree, brought to the fore one of the most infectious and sincere singers in the business.

Combining the two — the music of the '50s and the mellow voice of Sam Cooke, RCA Victor has produced a new album which is fast climbing popularity polls across the country.

"Hits of the '50s" is a collection of a dozen of the decade's best known and best liked songs. Included are "Hey There", "Too Young", "Secret Love", and the "Song from Moulin Rouge", as well as "Mona Lisa", "Unchained Melody" and "Cry".

Fans of the former Gospel singer have often compared his precise sense of timing and rhythmic phrasing to that of woodwind soloists, noting the similarity of his voice quality with the reedy sounds of the clarinet and the oboe.

Orchestral background for "Hits of the '50s" is provided by Glenn Osser, who keeps the texture simple and light so that the vocal is never smothered by or forced into competition with the instrumental performance.

THE ENGINEERS HAVE HAIRY EARS

Today in this age of technology when engineering graduates are wooed and courted by all of America's great industries, how do you account for the fact that Rimbaud Sigafos, who finished at the very top of his class at M.I.T., turned down hundreds of attractive job offers to accept employment as a machinery wiper at the Acme Ice Company at a salary of $20 a week with a twelve-hour day, a seven-day week, and only fifteen minutes for lunch?

I know what you are thinking: "Cherchez la femme!" You are thinking that Mr. Acme, head of the Acme Ice Company, has a beautiful daughter with whom Rimbaud is madly in love and he took the job only to be near her.

Friends, you are wrong. It is true that Mr. Acme does have a daughter, a large, torpid lass named Claudia who spends all her waking hours scooping marzipan out of a bucket and staring at a television set which has not worked in some years. Rimbaud has not the slightest interest in Claudia; nor, indeed, does any other man, excepting possibly John Ringling North.

So how come Rimbaud keeps working for the Acme Ice Company? Can it be that they provide him with free Marlboro Cigarettes, and all day long he is able to settle back, make himself comfortable and enjoy the filter cigarette with the unfiltered taste?

—A large, torpid lass named Claudia

No, friends, no. Rimbaud is not allowed to smoke on the job and when he finishes his long, miserable day he has to buy his own Marlboros, even as you and I, in order to settle back and enjoy that choice tobacco, that smooth, mellow flavor, that incomparable filter, that pack or box.

Well, friends, you might as well give up because you'll never in a million years guess why Rimbaud works for the Acme Ice Company. The reason is simply this: Rimbaud is a seal!

He started as a performing seal in vaudeville. One night on the way to the Ed Sullivan show, he took the wrong subway. All night the poor mammal rode the B.M.T., seeking a helping hand. Finally a kindly brakeman named Ernest Thompson Sigafos rescued the hapless Rimbaud.

He took Rimbaud home and raised him as his own, and Rimbaud, to show his appreciation, studied hard and got excellent marks and finished a distinguished academic career as valedictorian of M.I.T.

Rimbaud never complained to his kindly foster father, but through all those years of grammar school and high school and college, he darn near died of the heat! A seal, you must remember, is by nature a denizen of the Arctic, so you can imagine how poor Rimbaud must have suffered in subtropical New York and Boston, especially in those tight Ivy League suits.

But today at the Acme Ice Company, Rimbaud has finally found a temperature to his liking. He is very happy and sends greetings to his many friends.

Alpha Pi Mu

—By Lillie Jones

Alpha Pi Mu initiated five new members into the Honor Society on December 15, 1961. The initiation ceremony was held in the Education building using eight rooms.

The new members are: Salsa Windom, Aey Graham, Miss Marian Broussard, Miss Jesse Lee Reece and Miss Lonnie B. Clark. These students met with the high expectations of the Alpha Pi Mu. The principle factors determining their approval was the qualifications that state an initiate must have a 3.3 accumulative average, 15 semester hours and be in good standing with the college. The initiate as a part of initiation requirement, must also write an extensive research paper upon which is the basis of an extensive interrogation period administered by various heads of the college's departments.

The Alpha Pi Mu held a reception in the honor of the new members on January 14, 1961, 6:30-8:30 p.m. in the memorial center. The guest speaker was Mr. L. C. Macmillan, college registrar.

Kappa Omega Beta Social Club

The Kappa's are very proud to be "KAPPA'S". The pledges are proud of them too. The Kappa's know it too because the pledges gave the "Sisters" a steak dinner Sunday with all the trimmings. While the sisters "Ate" the pledges entertained them with a musical program. The President of the pledgee club, Pledgee George Faye Deroun was mistress of ceremony. The sisters were very pleased with the entire evening.

Tuesday January 10, the pledges went on probation, falling out at 6:30 A.M., dressed in Gray Skirts and plaid matching blouses. The second day they wore red skirts and red blouses.

Everyone stops and focus their attention the pledgee's way when ever they are going by. The "Sisters" are very proud of the 34 young ladies in the pledgee line.

ROTC to Hold Commissioning Exercise Sunday, January 22

Dr. E. B. Evans, President of Prairie View A and M College, recently announced that the Department of Military Science will hold its Commissioning Exercise on Sunday, January 22, at 7 P.M. in the college's gymnasium-auditorium. C. as Executive to the Civilian Assistant for Manpower, Personnel and Reserve Affairs.

He is a 1940 graduate of Howard University of Washington, D. C., and is a graduate of the Army Information School. The Court Held A Public Service by the College of Law Willamette University

An elderly husband sued his not quite so elderly wife for divorce, charging cruelty and claiming that the cruelty consisted of the wife attempting to have the husband committed to the state hospital for the insane, and failing in that, of attempting to have the husband placed under guardianship.

THE COURT HELD: Divorce granted to husband. The court said that it is not necessarily and invariably extreme cruelty for a husband or wife to attempt to have the other legally adjudged insane or placed under guardianship, but whether such action amounts to cruel and inhuman treatment depends on the motive of the marriage partner who starts the proceedings. The court found in the case before it that the wife had sought to have the husband adjudicated insane purely for her own financial advantage at the expense of her husband's happiness and not for the preservation of the health and welfare of the husband. 353 O. 2n 224 (Oregon)

Webster Returns to Prairie View

—By Billy Rowe

This is a very familiar figure who is really no stranger to Pantherville. The figure is David Webster, one of Prairie View's outstanding gridgers of 1960. Webster, a quarterback on the 1960 team that finished second in the South Western to eight consecutive victories. A tough man with passes, he completed 51 of 107 for 680 yards and 9 touchdowns. His percentage was 47.7.

After the 1960 season, Webster went to the Dallas Texan's Training Camp to play, and as he finished at the end of the season, he was named one of the A. F. L. top defensive backs. Beside being vicious tackler, he aided the Texans by intercepting no less than 6 passes with at least three going for touchdowns. For accomplishing these feats he made All-Pro Defensive Back. He is now on the campus to complete his graduate work. Conference, guided the Panthers

Panther Cagers Undefeated

The Prairie View Panthers won two important Southwestern Conference basketball games from Texas Southern last weekend — extending their league record to 5-0 and notching victories number 14 and 15 for the season, with no defeat.

The Panthers whipped the TSU Tigers 107-84 and 94-82. The first match was a thrill packed game played at Prairie View during which the Panthers led throughout the evening. Zelmo Beaty, Prairie View's All-American center, scored 40 points in the game, with Donald Hines and Cornell Lackey following with 17 and 16 points respectively. James Keller led for TSU with 24 points.

Halftime score was 58-40 in Prairie Views favor.

A return match, set in Jepesen Field House, was watched by a capacity crowd. The game started as a fairly even match, but the Panthers gradually moved in a comfortable position ahead. However, in the closing minutes the Tigers struck back viciously, almost overtaking the big Prairie View lead. With superior ball handling, Lackey and Dewey McQueen slowed the pace until their teammates could recover from the attack and start moving ahead at the game's end.

Prairie View continues to rank high in both AP and UPI polls among the nations small colleges. Beaty is ranked number one for rebounding in both NCAA and NAIA official statistics.

Their victories over Grambling and Texas Southern were considered major hurdles. They have yet to face Jackson State College, Southern and a return home match with Grambling, all three threats in league competition.

CHARLIE MALONE

Malone Named All-American

Charlie Malone, the likable co-captain of the Panther grid-ders, was named on the Pittsburgh Courier All-American team for 1960.

A rugged tackler, Malone was personally responsible for revitalizing the critical Panther defense in the closing stages of the 1960 season. He figured in almost every play in the Tennessee State victory, giving all and still more to rally his teammates to a great cause.

The 215-pound center is a senior from Terrell, Texas. He was observed by the Detroit Lions chief scout during the Southern game, and what he saw was a lot of this man Malone.
