BIG HALF-TIME PROGRAM PLANNED —

Hempstead Merchants Provide Floats for Special Parade at Saturday's Homecoming

Miss Prairie View and her attendants will ride on three beautiful floats in a special parade Saturday during the big PV-Grambling game set for 2:00 p.m. at Blackshear Field.

The floats are being provided by Hempstead Merchants, and the Hempstead Chamber of Commerce. Hempstead Motor Co. and Winfree's Super Market made their floats available along with the one constructed by the Chamber of Commerce. The three floats, and two others also offered but had been dismantled by mistake, were used by the queens in the Annual Waller County Fair which closed this week.

The new PV band is expected to put on a special show during halftime Saturday. Growing almost daily, the band is expecting to use up the time usually allocated for the drill team. They will use the full halftime for their own special show.

A hearty Panther salute is given to the Hempstead Merchants for their thoughtfulness in making these attractive floats available to Prairie View students on this occasion.

The Queen and the Captains — Our diminutive Miss PV looks even smaller between the giant co-captains Jesse Felder (left) and Joseph Summerfield, both 235 and 210 pounds respectively. They may be promising her a victory Saturday in the PV-Grambling game.

Grambling - PV Ready for SWC Battle Saturday

The undefeated Grambling College Tigers will face a rejuvenated Prairie View A&M College eleven here Saturday in a Southwestern Conference battle very important to the pennant-minded Louisiana team.

The Panthers will be in the underdog position, but will face the powerful Tigers with added determination after returning victorious from a close 26 - 17 scrap with Wiley College in Dallas on Monday night. The Panthers' one advantage is the fact that they are playing at Prairie View, their first home appearance of the season.

An aerial battle between the Panthers and the Tigers is expected to provide plenty of action. Grambling's ace hurler Ron Pennington is rated as one of the best passers in the league and Prairie View's quarterback Jimmy Kearney is not far behind. Leading pass receivers are Tiger Clifton McNeil and Panther Otis Taylor.

Grambling has the distinction of having beaten two top-ranked small college teams in the nation — Southern University and Tennessee State. The up-and-coming Panthers could play the role of spoilers Saturday and start a trend would could put them back into the middle of the heated conference race.

Kick-off time is 2 p.m.

Gholston Leads Crescendoes In Win Over Raiders

On a pass interception, Carl Gholston led the Crescendoes, now top league contenders, to a 6-0 victory over the Raiders, who now carry a win and lost record in the losers bracket.

Pass for pass the Crescendoes and Raiders interrupted a game scoring toss until late in the third quarter when Gholston picked one out of the air on the 8 yard line and walked over the goal line untouched.

Scoring threats for the Crescendoes were engineered by Deese and Wilson with Jenkins and Matlock playing top ball for the Raiders.

The Crescendoes are scheduled to play the winner of the Sputniks - Bears game on November 28th.

Sputniks Win Over Texans

With a 2-0 score the Sputniks took command over the Dallas Texans in their first opener with Ervin trapping the fleet Texans halfback behind their goal for a safety. The 32-minute game boasted a battle between the two evenly matched teams.

Outstanding players for the Texans were Howard Roberts, Franklin, Gorman and Woodard. Outstanding players for the Sputniks were Coleman, Thompson, White and Polk.

In their next tilt the Sputniks will meet the LBA Bears on October 22nd. Game time is 5:15 p.m.

Prairie View's Army ROTC Distinguished Military Students Named

Approval action by the College President, Dr. E. B. Evans, confirmed designations of four Prairie View senior Army ROTC cadets as Distinguished Military Students (DMS) for college school year 1962-63. The four students awarded this distinction were Cadet William M. Batts, III, of Fairbanks, Texas; Cadet Allen Broussard from Liberty, Texas; Cadet James A. F. Miller of Houston, Texas, and Cadet John W. Williams from Calvert, Texas.

Each student named, in addition to maintaining exemplary academic records at college, was an outstanding performer during the summer camp field training period at the 1962 Fort Sill ROTC Summer Camp in Oklahoma. Among other criteria considered in making selections, DMS designees must have been in the upper-third of their Military Science Department class; in the upper half of their college class; demonstrated initiative and leadership capacities through participation in campus and civic activities; and must possess outstanding qualities of leadership and high moral character.

Cadet Batts and Cadet Miller are majoring in Architectural Engineering, Cadet Broussard in Mathematics, and Cadet Williams in Chemistry. All are expecting to graduate by the end of the current school year, with the exception of Cadet Batts, who will be a January 1964 graduate.

Douglas Appointed Manager

Floyd Ray Douglass, a junior in mathematics from Nacogdoches, has been appointed by Wilfred C. Brown, senior manager of the Intramural program, as first junior manager for 1962-'63.

The Division of Intramurals is pleased to release this information on a student like Douglass.

Acne - A Problem in Adolescent Social Adjustment

Today the average adolescent has a desire to be personally attractive and socially acceptable. This concept can be damaged by the changing appearance of his skin. He wants to establish deep relations with members of his own age group, especially those of the opposite sex, but his appearance may retard his will to be accepted.

Acne is a common skin disorder which usually occurs at the beginning of puberty; although in some of the more resistant cases it may not appear until late puberty. The condition is characterized by an increase in the amount of oil of the face, especially around the nose, between the eyebrows and on the chin. The hair and scalp may also become oily, dandruff appears and there is gradual heaping up of the scales from crust.

The relationship between acne and maturation apparently results from the increased rate of hormone production during puberty. These secretions produce an increase in size and activity of the sebaceous glands. The sebaceous glands secrete a greasy, lubricating substance into the pores of the skin. This accounts for the oil on the face and scalp.

The trouble starts when an insoluble protein gathers at the mouth of the sebaceous glands causing them to become plugged. This prevents the flow of oil and a blackhead is formed.

Acne may progress to infected pustules which result in deep scars or pits that are the worst features of the disease.

For those with severe acne, treatments are given for controlling infection and minimiz-

Scholarship Awards in Advertising And Marketing Announced

The third annual House of Edgeworth Scholarship Awards contest offering cash awards totalling $1,000 for college students in marketing and advertising has just been announced by Larus & Brother Company.

The awards consist of three cash prizes of $500, $300 and $200, given for the first, second and third best marketing and advertising programs for selling House of Edgeworth pipe tobaccos to the young men's market.

Many marketing and advertising professors of leading colleges and universities have used the House of Edgeworth Scholarship Awards contest as a class assignment, giving the student the dual advantage of getting class credit for the work as well as serving as an entry in the competition. Comment has been that the contest affords a very interesting as well as practical challenge as it involves actual products which are sold throughout America and around the world.

In addition to the cash prizes, winners are given publicity in national trade publications. The winners are judged by a panel of three marketing and advertising professors on the basis of originality and actual merchandising value.

Further contest information can be obtained by writing to House of Edgeworth Scholarship Awards, Larus & Brother Company, Richmond, Virginia.

Accentuate the Positive

by Clarence Turner

The time has come . . . the time is now. We must stand up and speak out for those rights we claim as college students. Understand me fully before you begin jumping to conclusions. When I say we must speak out, I am not speaking of the private discussions we have in the dining hall, student union or dormitory. I am speaking of being heard in public places, in the student council meeting, expressing views in the Panther and most of all in Vesper, such as the one held last Sunday night. The Student Council gave its annual Vesper Hour and a question and answer period followed. Where were you? I would like to know because I have heard you complain from time to time about existing situations. Yet, when you are given a chance to express yourselves you don't take advantage of it. Do you realize that by missing vesper last Sunday night you missed the only chance that you will have this year to put questions before the Student Council, and to express yourselves before those persons on the administration who are most responsible for the existing conditions you now talk about. There is no excuse worthy enough to explain your unmanly behavior.

Just the other night when the pep rally was over and some of the students began to inquire about the general student dance we were suppose to have, no answer could be gotten from anyone to explain why one wasn't given. After most of you left the gym you complained about it, yet you would not be man or women enough to come to the gym on Sunday and speak out or question the Council and personnel about it. You would have been because the people responsible for this and other shortcoming here were there to hear you, namely the Dean of Men and Women, Counselor of the College, Assistant Dean of Men, Dean of Students and Assistant program Supervisor of the Student Memorial Center. All of these administrators and no students — let me tell you one thing the President, Dean of the College and your Department Directors haven't got a thing to do with your student activities and welfare as such, but those persons mentioned as having attended the assembly do. You should have been there stating your cases instead of standing in front of the Union talking about Prairie View hasn't got this and Prairie View hasn't got the other. Prairie View never will have this or that unless she knows you want it.

Sure you have gone to assemblies of this sort before and you expressed yourself and when you left the assembly most of everything you had said were left circulating around in the building. But this is what you have failed to realize, you had the hands of those persons attended and that was the Dean of Men. You created such a chaos this person told the other four that I mentioned about it and they were there this year to see whether or not you were going to continue to speak out for those rights you claim as college students. Remember, I said that most of everything said last year stayed in the building not everything. The little that was taken away brought some results and had you been there Sunday night five persons would have carried away a little of what would have been said and a little more progress would have been made.

Students, students — can't you realize that this is your school. You make up Prairie View. Without you there would be no Prairie View. Why don't you come together and speak out for those things we need. And don't you come together and speak out for those things we need. And be sure that you speak out where you can be heard and to those persons who, after having

by BURNS & HENDERSON

A Time for Improvement

By Beverly Nunez

Does the sight of unclean silverware in the cafeteria irk you? Are you, in fact, disgusted with the silverware each time you go to eat? Do you wonder how supposedly intelligent people would be complacent with the situation which exists daily in our cafeteria? If you are a student on this campus, the answer to each question is undoubtedly yes.

There is no reasonable excuse for dirty silverware to be distributed for student use. Nothing could be more unsanitary than eating with knives and forks that have not been properly cleansed. Any cafeteria that serves as many people as ours does should be most particular about cleanliness. Cleanliness should be, in fact, second nature to any type cafeteria.

Surely in a place where food is prepared and served, the personnel in charge of such operations would make certain that these operations are carried out properly. Evidently a negligent attitude has been developed by those in charge of our dining hall. And this negligence has resulted in tragic disregard for the well-being of the student.

It is not time for something to be done in regard to this situation? We, as students, are entitled to the best that this institution has to offer. Surely clean silverware falls under this heading. Is it asking too much to have clean eating utensils? I think not. It should be taken for granted that the silverware will be spotless when we prepare to use it.

Complacency in regard to the situation should cease. The time for action and improvement is NOW.

All is Well in Dallas

Prairie View students made an excellent showing in the big Dallas State Fair activities Monday — both on the gridiron and in the round of other activities in which they participated. In fact, everything went according to plans in Dallas.

The 150 or more students participating in the band, drill team, the Pirates; cheerleaders, Miss PV party, and others, added a great deal to the overall Prairie View show.

Let's Get Behind the Band

Congratulations to our new band director, Mr. Joseph A. Daniels for the fine work he is doing in building a top-rated band at PV. The group is growing every week in every respect. They started with 40 members — now there are 57 or more. Director Daniels is well on the way toward the 100 pieces all of PV has so long talked about.

Let's all get behind this group and offer all the encouragement possible. Maybe we will see at least 75 pieces by Homecoming — and 100 by November 24 for our big game with Southern in Houston.

motivated, can and will do something. Let's back the Student Council and the Panther. Show the administration, who said after your poor showing last Sunday night, "I told you that those students would not have the interest enough to come and express themselves in a public hearing," that you do have the interest and that you are going to stand together. And most of all, you are going to be the young men and women of today and you expect to be treated likewise.

The Student Council invites each of you to attend and take part in its meetings and the Panther invites you to take part in the student publications and to write letters to the Editor.

You have the challenge and I hope that you have been motivated enough to take action.

Acceptable Speech

by Sandra Faye Thompson

Acceptable speech is that form used by the majority of educated careful speakers in a given region.

There are four essential skills involved in acceptable speech and they are social skills, phonetic skills, semantic skills and vocal skills. For this issue let's consider the social skills.

Social skill is the ability to be an effective participant in human relationships. To be skilled socially you must know what to say, how to say it, when to say it and when not to say it.

In speaking, learn to be direct and be interested in your subject. Talk with your audience, not at them. If you feel the message you are to deliver had no value you are likely to deliver this attitude in your address, therefore beware of this. Always be definite in deciding your purpose because ineffective speakers aim at nothing and hit it. Be friendly and consider the people in the audience as your friends; and, consider the occasion as an experience.

Ask yourself these questions about the speech situation: 1.) Why is the group assembled? 2.) Who are they? 3.) What do they think about? 4.) What are their interests? A knowledge of these factors will help you to ensure intelligent action in the situation.

Finally, personal appearance is important to your success or failure in the achievement of social skills. Learn to stand properly, carry yourself well, sit tall and walk in a straight line. And remember, a well-timed gesture can help convey your point.

The Drama at Vesper

After Dr. Rousseve completed his heart warming message in Vesper last Sunday, I had a glowing feeling inside due to some of the comments he had made concerning the students of Pantherland. Among other things, Dr. Rousseve said, — "Since we are largely the products of our experiences, it seems clear that we learn to cooperate only by selecting leaders; to plan only by planning. In other words, students can learn to live democratically only by functionally and purposefully living democratically. This is the principal justification for student government; certainly it is a sufficient one." These words gave most of us there a motivating feeling even Dean Fuller crossed the "other" leg, and this is only done whenever something worthwhile has been said.

This speech would have really put the students of Prairie View on wheels, only they were not there to hear it. The majority of them were elsewhere doing things of little or no importance.

There was to be a question and answer period following the speaker but immediately after the president of the Student Council, William Batts, III, introduced the question and answer period most of the students present (250 out of 3100) stood up and walked out of the gym.

The grieving and complaining students didn't even have the spunk to face their own complaints; but, on second thought maybe they had to study — I hope so.

"The march of civilization: From treetop to cave. From cave to skyscraper. From skyscraper to bomb shelter." — Frieda J. Monger, Duluth (Minn.) Publicity.

For the mild cases, medical care with frequent face washing can be useful. Each individual should learn to wash his face without rough scrubbing, heavy cold creams and oily soaps. Gentle massaging with a mild soap is sufficient.

Campus Fashions

by Joyce Rollins

This weekend new students will get an opportunity to see the fashions worn by our various social and cultural clubs when each club falls out in their respective attire for the big P. V. and Grambling game. Club colors will range from the grey and white of the Les Belles Lettres to the green and white of the Barons of Innocation.

Beginning with the next issue of the Panther there will be a new feature in the Campus Fashions Column. In order to illustrate just what the latest fashions are, a young woman or man will be chosen each month as the Fashions personality of the month. This particular person will be a symbol not only of good taste in fashions, but of good grooming, posture, and personality.

Be sure and watch for, the next issue and see who is the Model of the month.

HAPPINESS CAN'T BUY MONEY

Can education bring happiness?

This is a question that in recent years has caused much lively debate and several hundred stabbings among American college professors. Some contend that if a student's intellect is sufficiently aroused, happiness will automatically follow. Others say that to concentrate on the intellect and ignore the rest of the personality can only lead to misery.

I myself favor the second view, and I offer in evidence the well-known case of Agathe Fusco.

Agathe, a forestry major, never got anything less than a straight "A", was awarded her B.T. (Bachelor of Trees) in only two years, her M.S.B. (Master of Sap and Bark) in only three, and her D.B.C. (Doctor of Blight and Cutworms) in only four.

Academic glory was hers. Her intellect was the envy of every intellect fan on campus. But was she happy? The answer, alas, was no. Agathe—she knew not why—was miserable, so miserable, in fact, that one day while walking across campus, she was suddenly so overcome with melancholy that she flung herself, weeping, upon the statue of the Founder.

By and by a liberal arts major named R. Twinkle Plenty came by with his yoyo. He noted Agathe's condition. "How come you're so unhappy, hey?" said R. Twinkle.

"Suppose you tell me, you dumb old liberal arts major," replied Agathe peevishly.

Have you ever smoked a Marlboro cigarette?

"All right, I will," said R. Twinkle. "You are unhappy for two reasons. First, because you have been so busy stuffing your intellect that you have gone and starved your psyche. I've got nothing against learning, mind you, but a person oughtn't to neglect the pleasant, gentle amenities of life—the fun things. Have you, for instance, ever been to a dance?"

Agathe shook her head.

"Have you ever watched a sunset? Written a poem? Smoked a Marlboro Cigarette?"

Agathe shook her head.

"Well, we'll fix that right now!" said R. Twinkle and gave her a Marlboro and struck a match.

She puffed, and then for the first time in twelve or fifteen years, she smiled. "Wow!" she cried. "Marlboros are a fun thing! What flavor! What filter! What pack or box! What a lot to like! From now on I will smoke Marlboros, and never have another unhappy day!"

"Hold!" said R. Twinkle. "Marlboros alone will not solve your problem—only half of it. Remember I said there were two things making you unhappy?"

"Oh, yeah," said Agathe. "What's the other one?"

"How long have you had that bear trap on your foot?" said R. Twinkle.

"I stepped on it during a field trip in my freshman year," said Agathe. "I keep meaning to have it taken off."

"Allow me," said R. Twinkle and removed it.

"Land sakes, what a relief!" said Agathe, now totally happy, and took R. Twinkle's hand and led him to a Marlboro vendor's and then to a justice of the peace.

Today Agathe is a perfectly fulfilled woman, both intellect-wise and personality-wise. She lives in a darling split-level house with R. Twinkle and their 17 children, and she still keeps busy in the forestry game. Only last month, in fact, she became Consultant on Sawdust to the American Butchers Guild, she was named an Honorary Sequoia by the park commissioner of Las Vegas, and she published a best-selling book called I was a Slippery Elm for the FBI.

The makers of Marlboro are pleased that Agathe is finally out of the woods—and so will you be if your goal is smoking pleasure. Just try a Marlboro.

Panthers Make Gain on TSU — Quarterback Jimmy Kearney fades back to pass in the TSU game. The Tigers barely nosed out the Panthers in the annual grudge game.

YEAH TEAM! BEAT GRAMBLING

Panthers Drop Wiley in Annual Classic

DALLAS — Prairie View A & M College continued their gridiron mastery over Wiley College Monday night in the Cotton Bowl, but this year's 26-17 Panthers victory was the toughest encountered in the past four meetings of these age-old rivals. Over 10,000 State Fair fans saw two evenly matched teams in top shape for the 38th Annual Classic.

The Panthers opened the scoring early in the first quarter following a 52-yard rushing drive led by Jimmy Kearney which carried them to the one-yard line. Fullback Mack Green carried for the tally and John Harris' kick was good for the conversion.

Wiley's Wildcats retaliated quickly with halfbacks Louis Howard and Linell Moore leading a ground attack that put them in position for Freddie Dotson to score. Bobby Nevels added the extra point to knot the score and minutes later kicked a 23 yard field goal to go ahead 10-7 at halftime.

Prairie View moved ahead 13-10 in the third period with Ezell Seals scoring from 5 yards out. It was then Wiley's turn as Moore scored and Nevels converted to put the Wildcats ahead 17-13.

Kearney's 18 yard pass to Tommy Nelms put the Panthers ahead again and in the closing minutes Ezell Seals raced 12 yards to add the final Panther score.

Panthers Lose Grudge Game 24-14

by Larry Williams

A capacity crowd was on hand to witness the annual grudge game between Prairie View and Texas Southern on October 6th. The game was played in Jepson Stadium in Houston.

Excitement filled the air, and everyone realized that it would be a battle from the word "go." The Panthers took the lead in the first quarter of play and scored 14 points. The first touchdown was attributed to a pass and run play from Jimmy Kearney to Otis "Slug" Taylor. The play began on the Tigers 48 yard line and ended 4 yards from the goal line. Two plays later Mack "the Parker" Green scampered over the 4 yards for a touchdown. John "Chuck" Harris added the usual perfect point.

To give the fans yet another thrill Richard Seals intercepted a Tiger pass and raced 30 yards into the end zone for another touchdown. Harris again supplied the extra point, giving the Panthers a 14-0 first quarter lead.

The Tigers retaliated in the second quarter with two touchdowns and the half-time score was 14-14.

In the second half the fans went wild as both teams fought to break the tie. With only three minutes of play left, the TSU Tigers scored a touchdown, making the score 22-14. This by no means dampened the spirit of the Panthers. Within two minutes the Mighty Panthers drove the ball down to the one foot line. There, as fate would have it, time ran out as Otis "Slug" Taylor lay there with the ball only one foot from a possible victory.

Coach Nicks was asked this question after the game by Jesse Felder: "Coach, if Otis would have made it to the end-zone on that last play, would you have gone for the two-point conversion; or would you have settled for the sure point with Harris kicking?" Coach Nicks replied, "All or none, professor;
