What do you know about Thrift?

Problem: It pays to buy a new car instead of making major repairs on your four-year old buggy.

Answer: Not Always! Depreciation on a new car is about 25-30% the first year. If you're buying a $3,600 car, that's about $1,000. So it probably will pay you to repair the old car (which has already depreciated 75% of its sale price by now) and drive it a few years longer.
