UP-N-DOWN
290

Even though I had to get up in the middle of the night to do it,

I sure am glad that I discovered the present that my wife intended to give me for Christmas.

You know how it is when you can't sleep. You rummage around for something to read, and I struck gold the other night when I came across a brand-new, unopened volume of "TEXAS"; James A. Michener's newly released book. I've been a fan of Michener for many years, and have read just about every book he ever wrote, and I have been anxiously waiting for this one to come out, dropping very broad hints to Cheri about what I wanted for Christmas.

I'm not very far into it yet, as I have been reading under cover of darkness to avoid getting caught with it, but I have read enough to answer some questions I have always had; both before I moved to Texas 15 years ago, and since I have lived here.

I have always admired the free and independent spirit that seems to identify Texans, and sets them apart from the folks of other states where I have lived. I'm sure that the people of every state are proud of theirs, but with Texans, there's something special about it, which I observed while in the Army many years ago. I met and came to know lots of people from different areas of our great nation who were unique, but there

Bobcats Fall To Bellville Brahmas

In one of the hardest fought games we've seen this year, the Hempstead Bobcats were narrowly defeated by the Bellville Brahmas last Friday night at Bobcat Stadium by a score of 16 to 13.

By the time the first series of downs was underway, there was no doubt that the Brahmas had come to play football, and the Bobcats seemed almost surprised that they were facing such tough competition. While the Bobcats showed several instances of brilliant individual play, it was the Brahmas who showed how a well-oiled machine, playing as a team, can grind down an opponent and win a game.

The workhorse for the Bobcat team was Darrell Williams, who gave his best on 17 carries for 93 hard-earned yards. His brother, Running Back Harvey Williams, after suffering an injury last week, was held out of the game for the entire first half, and when he did get into the game, his running was ineffectual against the solid defenses thrown up by Bellville.

The first quarter was scoreless, as both teams took measure of each other, but in the 2nd period, Hempstead was first on the scoreboard, when Darrell Williams ran 40 yards for the touchdown. Calvin Toliver made his EP kick good, putting the Bobcats Parents Night activities preceeded the Hempstead-Bellville game last Friday night at Bobcat Stadium. Lots of proud folks stood with their warriors before the game.

CONROE BESTS BULLDOGS

In what could only be described as a classic defensive battle, the Waller Bulldogs remained scoreless to be defeated by Conroe Oakridge, 7 to 0 in Waller last Friday night.

Scoring was limited to one fourth-quarter touchdown, when quarterback Karey Vaught completed a 17 yard pass play to Tommy Sammons for the score. This play ended a drive of 55 yards and 10 plays. Oakridge made their extra point kick, so with 6:30 left, they went in front of the Bulldogs to stay.

The numbers speak for themselves in this game: Rushing - five Bulldog runners carried 29 times for 117 yards total, and QB Darrell Hawkins completed 2 passes in 7 tries, for a net yards gained in the air of 5. Hawkins also punted 6 times, gaining 204 yards, and compiled a 34 yard average per punt. Billy Johnson returned two punts for 10 yards, and one kickoff return for 32 yards.

There were no interceptions by the dogs.

Oakridge ran the ball 42 times, picking up 128 yards, and completed only 2 passes for 26 more.

The outcome of this game (See Bulldogs pg. 17) was always something about a Texan that made him special.

Since I have lived in this great state, I have come to appreciate the interesting laws that exist here, especially in our state constitution, but also in our counties and towns. Everything seems to be geared to the interest of the individual first, then to the group; just the opposite of the laws in other areas of America.

I have enjoyed reading parts of Texas's history over the years, and I am especially interested in the great reading coming out everywhere, now that we are about to celebrate our sesquicentennial birthday.

A lot of very fascinating things have happened in this state that make it fun to study, and Michener is famous for going all the way back to the beginning of time when he writes a book about a place or a people. He lays everything out in perfect order, explaining what happened and why, and it really helps to get you ready before you come up on something famous, that you may already know about. I mean things like our famous battles, the larger-than-life men who fill our past and who built this state into what it is today, and the strange way we pronounce some names of places or things.

The bottom line so far in the book, seems to be that Texas is unique in a thousand ways because we were at one time a free and independent nation, even though it was for a brief period in the state's history, and the men who made it all happen were sometimes scoundrels, but they possessed the bravery and brains to make it all come together into what we have today; a great and world-famous state.

I hope that if you don't get a chance to read Michener's "TEXAS", you will at least take the time to read some of the great capsules of Texas history that are already being published in every paper, magazine, and book that will be printed in Texas in the next 14 months. You will probably be as fascinated by it all as I am, and if you're a Texan-By-Choice like me, you owe it to yourself to become as knowledgeable as possible about our state's history. You'll be a better Texan because of it, and you'll have a lot of fun doing it.

Of course, all of this stuff isn't off-limits to native Texans. Wouldn't you hate to think that there are Texans-By-Choice running around out there who know more about our state than you do?

See you up-n-down the road.

Sen. Bentsen Fights Drug Trafficking In Texas

Lloyd Bentsen

More than 100 pounds of cocaine, valued at some $3.5 million, was seized by U.S. Border Patrol officers from a 47-year-old Cuban national detained recently at a South Texas checkpoint.

This confiscation brings to $16.7 million the street value of narcotics seized this fiscal year in the Border Patrol's McAllen sector alone.

It is clear that the drug smugglers are back in business, despite a decline that resulted from the border crackdown earlier this year following the brutal murder of Drug Enforcement Administration agent Enrique Camarena Salazar in Guadalajara, Mexico.

In letters to the DEA and Customs in June, I expressed my concern about reports that drug traffickers are increasing their use of Texas on the "Mexican trampoline," a smuggling route from South America that bounces cocaine through Mexico into the United States.

I asked these agencies to inform me of the shift in operations that drug smugglers seem to be making from South Florida to Texas, and the plans to deal with it. Customs officials informed me that cocaine and heroin smuggling are indeed on the rise in their Southwest Region, which includes Texas.

WHO'S WHO-- -IN BUSINESS

Miller Implement Co., Inc.

Back in 1946, when this company first got it's start, it was located on Highway 290 in Waller, where the Pecan Tree Restaurant now stands. The original owner, A.L. Slye, started off as a John Deere dealer, calling his business Slye Implement Company. Mr.

Slye's son-in law, Bennie Miller, bought in to the business, and the name changed to Slye-Miller Implement Co. When Mr. Slye retired, he sold his interest to A.B "Boots" Hegar, and the name changed again, this time to its present title, Miller Implement Company, Incorporated. Bennie Miller retired in 1976, and left the business.

Miller Implement Co., Inc. now has a beautiful facility located on FM 362, 1/2 mile north of Hwy 290 in Waller which they built and occupied back in 1975, and they are still a John Deere dealer, as well as the local New Holland franchise. They employ 12 folks to get the job done, with General Manager Laurence Koenig overseeing the operation. Laurence has been with the company for 19 years, and is a friend to just about anyone in these parts who works in or on the soil for a living. The Assistant Manager, Theresa Miller, is one of Waller's more active citizens, and can often be seen helping out with various civic projects that benefit the community.

Miller Implement, in addition to their full line of farm machinery, also offers a fine selection of lawn and garden equipment and supplies, as well as a very interesting group of childrens' toys, most of which are tied in with their implement lines. There is something available for everyone at this business, and if you are not already familiar with their store, why not stop in soon and see what they have to offer you. You'll be pleasantly surprised at the comprehensive sales and services offered here.

On Thursday, November 14th, they are going to have an Open House, commemorating 10 years in their present location, and they are inviting all of their friends and neighbors to come on out and help them celebrate. There will be favors and giveaways, and lots of goodies to eat and drink. It's their way of saying "thank you" to all of the fine customers who have made their success possible, so be sure to stop by on the 14th and say "best wishes for continued success," to the folks at Miller Implement Company, Inc.

Bentsen Fights Trafficking

cocaine seized in the region jumped from 65 pounds to 3,310 pounds. That's a 50-fold increase. In the same timespan, heroin confiscations went from 13 pounds to 44 pounds.

Confiscations for 1985, as of August, stood at 2,117 pounds of cocaine and 21 pounds of heroin.

In addition to actual confiscations, Customs estimated that some 6,250 pounds of cocaine were smuggled into the United States through the Southwest Region during 1984. For 1985, that figure is expected to jump to 9,260 pounds.

In response to this increased threat, Customs officials have advised me that they intend to commit more anti-narcotics resources to Texas.

But I am concerned that this effort by Customs will not be enough, especially in light of the fact that the number of field agents assigned to Texas by the Drug Enforcement Administration remained virtually the same between 1979 and 1984.

During that time, while the amount of cocaine seized was increasing 50-fold, DEA added only four agents to its Texas force, increasing it from 180 in 1979 to 184 in 1984.

I have written again to DEA Acting Administrator John C. Lawn, asking him this time to assign more agents to Texas and strengthen the federal efforts in the war against drug trafficking.

We are not winning this war and we must get more agents in the field if we expect to turn the situation around.

Letter From Senator Graham

Dear Friends:
Knowing of your interest in a balanced budget and reduced federal deficit, I am pleased to inform you that on October 10 the Senate passed by an overwhelming bipartisan majority the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985. By taking this strong and decisive action, the Senate sent a clear message that we must reform the budget process to ensure that while we pay our bills, we also call in the credit cards.

As you are probably aware, the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act is a comprehensive, emergency bill that will be in force through October 1, 1991. It requires the Congress and the President to cut the federal deficit by equal amounts each year until it reaches zero in 1991. With this measure, the President may not submit, and the Congress may not act upon, any budget with a deficit greater than the maximum allowable ceilings set out by law.

This legislation is imperative to the cause of a balanced budget and reduced deficit. The Congress has shown over the past thirty years that it has neither the will nor the incentives to make the difficult choices necessary to reduce the deficit. Under this legislation, if the Congress or the President fails to act, then an automatic mechanism is triggered, reducing the spending overage for that year proportionally and across the board throughout the budget.

Several months ago it became clear to me that if we were ever going to take control of runaway federal spending and deficits, decisive action would have to be the key. We must act now. Currently, this proposal is being considered in a House-Senate Conference Committee. Please contact your Congressman in support of this historical legislation. With its passage, Congress will no longer be able to dodge its responsibility by condemning our children to pay the debts it is accumulating. For the good of the nation, the time has come to pay the bills and finally call in the credit cards.

Waller Lions To Host Fish Fry On Nov 16

The Waller Lions Club has announced the date for their annual Fish Fry. This is one of the finer events in the Waller area, which always features a first-class fish fry, along with all of the fixin's, and a good crowd usually shows up for this feed.

Saturday, November 16th has been selected, and the group will begin serving at 5:00 p.m.; continuing through 8:00 p.m. The Waller Lions Club Hall on Waller Street will be the scene for the dinner, and the large, pleasant facility can hold a goodly crowd of hungry supporters.

The funds raised will be used for supporting the various charities and activities of the club, including their sponsorship of the Lions Crippled and Handicapped Children's Camp at Kerrville, Texas.

Waller County Library News

During the month of November, the Waller County Library has received the following new books:

From our selection of fictions, we have Secrets by Danielle Steel, a spell-binding look at one of America's multi-million dollar industries, the glittering world of prime time television. The Two Mrs. Grenvilles by Dominick Dunne, a novel of violent passions that reveals how the rich think and live and how they deal with those who don't belong. A Maggot by John Fowles, is part detective story, part science fiction, part gothic horror tale, and part history of dissent. Twilight

Child by Warren Adler, a novel exploring the most complex of all human relationships, that of grandparents to their grandchildren, and the conflicts and misunderstandings of the generation in between. The Anvil Chorus by Shane Stevens is a good mystery. Mountain Guns by Max Brand, is a fast-paced tale of adventure in the old west.

From our selection of non-fictions: Love and Money by Sylvia Porter, offers essential financial advice, straight talk, and valuable tips on dozens of personal finance issues.

Our new biographies include: Chaplin by David Robinson, the life and art of Charlie Chaplin. Hemingway by Jeffrey Meyers, is an important and original contribution to literary history as well as a dramatic and moving story of the most admired and controversial American writer of our time. And the autobiography of Howard Cosell, I Never Played The Game, written with Peter Bonventre, is a provocative book describing Howard Cosell's thirty-three years in broadcasting.

We have received a new shipment of VHS movies, which include, Alice In Wonderland, The Ice Pirates, Mister Roberts, On Golden Pond, Rocky, and The Shining, just to name a few.

PVAMU Cagers To Create A "New Spirit Rising" This Season

The Prairie View A & M University Panthers have a fourth year head coach, a new approach to basketball, and new goals; The combination of these factors will create "A NEW SPIRIT RISING".

Jim Duplantier's philosophy is simple: he states that your only limitation is your imagination. You must be a dreamer. Set your goals high. One of Duplantier's goals is to bring a strong sense of pride back to Prairie View basketball.

Duplantier is pleased with his current crop of recruits. He and assistant coach Phil Chapman landed seven quality players; three junior college transfers and four freshmen.

Those seven newcomers, along with returnees Terrance Artis, the team's only senior, Marc Horne, Reginald Jones, and Henry Rattler, will be facing the most formidable schedule ever played by a Prairie View team. Panthers nonconference competition includes season opener against Southwest Texas State University and game two against the Warriors of Marquette University, Wisconsin.

SWAC (Southwestern Athletic Conference) competition will face Southwest Conference (SWC) competition when the Panthers take on Texas A & M University on December 2 and Southern Methodist University December 4.

Duplantier likes the looks of his 1985-86 Panther team. That is what he has to say about TERRANCE ARTIS his returning senior player: "Terrance has all the tools you look for in a guard: speed, quickness, ball handling and passing. He matured last year an is in a class by himself at the point guard position. Terrance should compete for conference honors this year."

Lions Use Puppet Show To Fight Drug Abuse

education in a unique way, and they have decided to get involved in the program.

They saw a puppet show that included a tape recorded script, which is geared to helping educate school-age children about the dangers of drugs.

The Hempstead Lions have purchased a puppet named "McGruff", and his accompanying tape, and they plan to present this show in our area schools, starting with the Third Grades, McGruff's particular target.

If the program is successful, the Lions plan to purchase additional puppet and tape sets, and broaden their presentations to include other age groups in our schools.

FOR RENT: two 1BR mobile homes in Hempstead. Utilities included.

Bobcat Darrell Williams (40) was the leading ground gainer during the game against the Bellville Brahmas. Bellville won it 16 to 13. (See story) out front 7 to 0. They made another score in this quarter, a field goal by Toliver, and the first half left the Bobcats with a ten point lead.

In the 3rd period, Brahma Quarterback Greg Johnson took a 12 yard run in for a touchdown, then passed to Glenn Lange for a two-point conversion, giving Bellville 8 points to Hempstead's 10.

The 4th quarter saw Hempstead broaden their point spread with another field goal by Toliver, putting them 5 ahead of the Brahmas. Then, with only 44 seconds left in the game, the Bellville team completed a drive with a 4 yard score by G. Smith to cap the Bobcats by one. They then completed a two-point conversion, putting them up 16 to 13, denying Hempstead the possibility of winning the game with another field goal. The time ran out before Hempstead could get anything going again.

This loss dashed the Bobcats' hopes for going on to bi-district play, and the Bellville Brahmas will have the opportunity for playoff action, joining Navasota as our district representatives.

The Hempstead Bobcats can be proud of a hard-fought, well-done season of play, and with all of the experience the under-

Also a team plus is Marc Horne, Duplantier says, "For Prairie View to be successful Marc has to have a good season. He came off the bench alot last year as the sixth man and made the difference in several games. He should start this year."

Duplantier beleives that "Reginald Jones is a prolific scorer who was the second leading freshman scorer in the conference. Reggie has tremendous range, and can score from anywhere on the court. He improved vastly as the year went on, and should shoot the ball more this year as the Panthers offense will be more geared to guards doing a lot more scoring."

Another rising star is Henry Rattler, Jr. "Henry is moving from the wing spot to a big guard to use his accurate outside shooting," said Coach Duplantier.

Additional team support will come from Christopher Rutledge "Little Rut" as he is affectionately known to all, is going to have to grow up quickly, with the graduation of his big brother Mark Rutledge, at center, Chris should see a lot of action this year," Duplantier added.

With "A NEW STAR RISING" coach Duplantier predicts "Our players will approach the season classmen were given this year, they should be a formidable foe in the fall of 1986.

with more confidence than before." He acknowledges that "We again have a tough schedule but, we've made a lot of progress in our program during the past year and with a little more consistency, I think we can play with nearly anyone."

Dr. Richard Redfield Answers Questions About

The Eyesight Of Texas

Q. I'm a secretary. By the end of the day, my eyes are tired. I already wear reading glasses. Could the office lighting be the problem?

Joyce Slay

A. It might be, but your eyes might also be the cause, especially if your glasses are over a year old. If you have become more farsighted in the last several months, there may not be enough power in your lenses.

Or, you may be a candidate for bifocals or trifocals to give you different powers for different vision needs like typing, proofing and filing.

Before you see your eye doctor, measure the distance from your eyes to the different work tasks with a tape measure or a piece of string. This information will help your doctor prescribe glasses that will meet your individual needs.

If your present lenses do not have the proper power they may be focused at a distance other than your working distance, thus causing eyestrain.

As for lighting, be sure your work area is well lit but not so much brighter than the rest of the room that your eyes must adjust to extremes. Sometimes, fluorescent lighting can be inadequate. Also, block direct glare from windows and adjust lighting to avoid glare reflected off walls, desks and office machinery.
