UP-N-DOWN 290

By Marty

It happened again yesterday. I had occasion to tangle with the local telephone company, and as usual, I came out second. As you know, I live in Waller, and have a business in Hempstead, so I need to call up there several times a week. I tried to dial that local number several times, and it never would ring for me. Silence. Dead air. Of course, the first thing I think of when that happens, and it happens often, is that every customer of ours in Waller has probably tried to call, and all got the same results. Of course, I did what all of us in this area have been trained to do through many years of this kind of service, I called the operator, and she dialed it for me. It worked perfectly for her.

I guess that all of us know better than to believe what we're told on the famous recordings we often get when we try to place a direct dial call, or a local call around here. One might assume that when "the number has been disconnected or is no longer in service", than the person has moved away, or the business is no longer in business. Right? Wrong! So far this month, I've gotten this recording for two school districts, a bank, my business, my home, and several of my friends' homes, offices, or businesses. We have all learned to simply ignore the recordings, and try to figure out some other way to communicate, or beat the system, by calling the operator and getting her/him to dial it for us. This must cost the phone company a lot of money for labor, and you'd think that things would get better.

For many years, it was nearly impossible to get an open line to use between Hempstead and Waller on a weekday afternoon, as there were simply too few trunks, or whatever they're called. (See 290 Page 2)

Rebecca Woolever, owner of Touch of Blues, cut the ribbon to signal the Grand Opening of the new store on Hwy 290 North in Hempstead. Mayor Singleton and Jaime Davis of Citizens State Bank took part in the ceremony to show support of new business in Hempstead.

Grand Opening For New Hempstead Business

Thursday, June 13th, was the kick-off for the Grand Opening of Touch Of Blues, a new retail store in Hempstead which features designer fashions and sportswear. Touch Of Blues, on Hwy 290 North in Hempstead, celebrated their Grand Opening by a ribbon cutting ceremony attended by Mayor Singleton

Closing Day Ceremonies For Hempstead LL

On Saturday, June 22, at 2:00 pm, the Hempstead Little League will have closing day ceremonies for the Pee Wee, Major and Senior Divisions. Pictures and trophies will be given to all participants. All players and coaches are expected to attend the ceremonies.

The Little League would like to extend a special invitation to all Little League parents and to our valued team sponsors to join with us in making this a fun filled afternoon. The ceremonies will be held at the Lions Club Little League Ballpark. If you should have any questions, please contact Jaime Davis or Robert Fife at 826-2431.

and Jaime Davis of Citizens State Bank, (official ribbon-holders for the ceremony), as well as a crowd of well-wishers. Refreshment were also offered to customers throughout the day. The Grand Opening lasted through Saturday at which time a drawing was held for two gift certificates which were given away. Winner of the $50.00 gift certificate was Mary Jackson of Hempstead, while Victoria Derrick, also of Hempstead, won the $25.00 gift certificate.

Store owners Rebecca and Curt Woolever designed their store to cater to the clothing needs of both women and men. They feature many designer labels including Jordache, Calvin Klein, Gunne Sax, Members Only, Chic, Zena, Bobbie Brooks, You Babe, Lee, Palmetto, and many more. They also welcome suggestions from their customers on new brands to add to their inventory. They presently have a large selection of jeans in the most popular styles and asked-for designer names as well as the most current summer fashions and swimwear.

Waller Team Boast Perfect Score

The competition was as hot as the weather over the weekend of June 1st and 2nd, at the Horse-shoe Pitching Contest at Waller Fest. There were 16 teams entered in the event, and their work could be observed almost non-stop on the pitch set up right in the middle of the Waller Village parking lot.

Walking off with the first place prize of $60. and trophies was the team of Betty Schroeder of Waller, and her partner Larry Gasparino. They pitched a perfect 5 win 0 loss set of games to seal their win. The Brenham team of Herbert Wayne Faith-haver and Charles W. Faith- (See Waller Team Page 8)

George Robinson Receives Local Shrine Club Award

George Robinson, Transportation Director for the Waller I.S.D., was recently given a special award for assisting the Waller County Shrine Club in their efforts to take a group of Waller students to the Shrine Circus in Houston.

Each year, the club sponsors a day at the circus for the kids in Waller, and the numbers have grown over the years, to the point where transportation has become a major consideration. This year, the District arranged for six school buses, complete with drivers, to haul the gang in for their day of fun.

John Bishop, Jim Ladd and

John Crowhurst, three local Shriners, acted as escorts for the 202 children and 44 adults who went on the trip. They all took sack lunches to eat at the Circus, and Kenney's Market supplied Soda Water and Chips for a snack on the way home.

Volunteer Sherriff's Deputy Glen Brown provided Official escort service for the convoy of buses. Although six buses left Waller, by the time they arrived at the entrance to the Astrodome, there were buses from all over this part of the state in the line, all appreciating the escort led, between our two towns. Then the crews spent months digging up the ditches along Highway 290, and all of us watched eagerly, knowing that new trunk lines were on the way, and that problem would soon be a thing of the past. I guess it worked, for we don't seem to get as many "busy" beeps as we used to, when dialing between the two towns. Now we get dead silence.

The real fun began yesterday when I tried to report the trouble. I grumbled at the operator who first redialed the number for me (I sure wouldn't want that job) and she suggested that I report the trouble to repair service, which I agreed to do. I picked up the 1984 phone book they gave me, shopped around in the front pages for awhile, trying to figure out which number to call, and dialing the number given for Repair Service-Residential. I got a recording that the number had been changed, and "please make a note of the new number", (do I carry the note with me forever?). I dialed the new number, and the lady said I had called the wrong number for the service I wanted.

She reconnected me to another magic number, and I explained the problem, only to have this lady hook me up with someone else, who promised to have the problem looked in to. Whew!!

The fix usually comes quite quickly after the complaint, and that is good. I guess they go in the back room and pull the dead bug off the wires or switches, and that solves the problem. For awhile. They never tell me what caused the problem, as I probably wouldn't understand anyway, but I know that the fix is only temporary, at best. It's going to get me again later.

When the subject of phone service comes up over coffee, most of the local folks just shrug their shoulders and say, "oh well, you know our phone service. It's always been like that. Don't pay any attention to it," but I find it hard to not pay any attention to it when I need to use the phone constantly for my business, and I would like to have my customers be able to reach the shop if they want to do business with us. If you are trying to call us, please don't believe it if the recording tells you that we are "disconnected or no longer in service". T'aint so! Keep trying. Report the trouble right away, please!

Now I happen to know most of the local folks who work for the phone company, and you couldn't find a nicer bunch of people anywhere on earth. I know that they aren't trying to "get" any of us, and that they are trying their best to make it all work, but it simply isn't happening. The price goes up, and the service goes down. At least it seems that way to me.

We all know how the folks at the southern part of Waller County feel about being the "poor cousins", with all of the county's services being located up here. Ask them what they think about the phone company's decision to split us up into two different area codes, but be ready to listen for quite a spell. You're going to get an ear full.

It's my opinion that somebody, somewhere in the phone company, has been given the title of "Vice-President in Charge of Dumb Decisions, Bad ideas, and Deteriorating Service". I'll bet his paycheck is a whopper, as he has to be the busiest guy in the company.

Well, if I can't reach you by phone, at least we can wave to one another when we pass, while heading up-n-down the road.

Vacation Photography

Many families when traveling have found that recalling adventures of their journey through the fun of photography is almost as enjoyable as taking the trip itself. Photos can be a good way to relive vacations time and time again with friends and relatives

Memorable vacation shots can be a snap.

As you travel, let everyone take a turn being the photographer. Snap family members doing things that are characteristic of the place visited.

Vacation photography can be more enjoyable if your camera is easy to use, light and compact, such as the A3000 35mm SLR from Pentax. It takes high-quality photos, yet is extremely easy to use. It can automatically set all exposure controls, allowing the user to just focus and shoot; or user can select the aperture or depth of field to create special effects with focus and motion. Flash operation can be automatic or manual. To ensure that no vacation memory is lost, automatic film winding allows continuous shooting at 1.5 frames per second for action sequence shots.

To help you become a better photographer, Pentax has produced a video cassette, "35mm Shoot Like a Pro" with an accompanying photo tips booklet, available at most photography dealers.

The Narrow Gauge

During plantation days the rich Brazos River bottom land around Pattison grew fabulous amounts of cotton. Early the cotton was hauled by ox wagons or mule teams to Houston, later to Hockley when the H&TC reached that point. But the Pattison area needed an easier means of getting cotton to market, so in 1870 the Texas Western Narrow Gauge Railway Company was formed. The company built some 40 miles of rail from Houston to Pattison which was opened for public use in 1878. The primary reason for building the railroad was to get cotton shipped from the Pattison area to Houston markets. A few years later the road was extended to Sealy where it connected with the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe which was of standard gauge rails. Financial troubles arose as well as disputes as to the merits of narrow gauge versus standard gauge. The Narrow gauge argument lost out and it ceased to operate in 1895. Texas Congressmen

Do they Vote Conservative or Liberal?

A voting analysis compiled by The Baron Report and The National Journal show the voting tendencies of Texan Congressmen in 1984. The ratings are considered a good barometer of voting tendencies because they include a broad spectrum of special interest organizations, such as the liberal Americans for Democratic Action and the conservative Chamber of Commerce.

The votes are arranged into three categories-economic, social and foreign policy. There were 46 Senate votes and 47 House votes in the calculations. The test votes were on such subjects as aid to El Salvador, tuition tax credits and abortion. As a group, the Texans scored an average of 50.8 on economic issues, 45.6 on social issues and 22.8 on foreign policy. The averages for the entire Congress were 59 on economics, 52 on social policy and 44 on foreign policy.

The ratings range from zero to 100, with 100 being the most liberal.

Former Sen. John Tower, a Republican scored 13 on economic votes, 9 on social issues and 6 on foreign policy. Lloyd Bentsen a Democrat, scored 36 on economics, 73 on social, and 69 on foreign policy.

Houstonians elected the two most politically divergent House members in the Texas delegation, according to the ratings.

Rep. Bill Archer, a Republican was the most conservative among the 17-member delegation, while neighbor Mickey Leland, a Democrat, was the Perfect Liberal, according to the ratings.

Leland, the only black member from Texas, elected in 1978 to fill the seat Barbara Jordan left, scored 100 in all three categories, the only Texas to do so.

Archer, who represents affluent River Oaks, the district that used to be represented by then-Congressman George Bush, scored zero on economics, 7 on social issues and zero on foreign policy.

Phil Gramm, then D-later R-College Station, was second most conservative, scoring 9 on economic issues and zero on social and foreign policy votes. He is now in the Senate in the seat that John Tower left.

Second-most liberal was John Bryant D-Dallas, who scored 86 on economics, 100 on social and 80 on foreign policy.

Special Recognition For Mrs. Marilyn Godwin

Mrs. Marilyn Godwin is a first grade teacher at Holleman Elementary School. She has taught in the Waller District for the past sixteen years. Mrs. Godwin is congratulated by the Waller

Holloman Elementary First grade teacher, Marilyn Godwin, shows an award she received from the Waller I.S.D. for her Special Education Project "The Writing Road to Reading". (See story)

I.S.D. Board of Trustees and the Administration for her outstanding work in the field of education.

Mrs. Godwin's project, "The Writing Road to Reading" (a Reading Research Analysis), was done under the supervision of Dr. Clarissa Booker, Professor at Prairie View A&M University, in the Course: Education 623, June, 1984.

The Writing Road to Reading, known as the Spalding Method, is a "unified phonics" approach of teaching reading developed by Mrs. Romalda Bishop Spalding. It is a total language arts approach to learning the phonetic base of the language through listening, speaking, writing, spelling, and reading. It includes a study of seventy phonograms. The phonograms are single letter or letter combinations which represent forty-five basic sounds.

During the summer in 1983, Mrs. Godwin participated in the Spalding training course at the St. Francis Episcopal School in Houston, Texas.

In May, 1984, Mrs. Godwin had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Spalding, now eighty-five years old and still training teachers. Mrs. Spalding recently conducted her forty-hour Spalding course for house parents and teachers at Boys' Country, in Hockley, Texas. Mrs. Spalding believes that her method is the only correct approach to teaching reading and if taught properly will eliminate remedial reading classes.

FANCY THAT!

In some states, an acre of farmland can contain as many as 400 rock hard fire ant mounds. Three to four feet high. These damage farm equipment, reduce pasturage and in some cases render the land unusable.

Fire ants slipped into this country from South America 50 years ago, and now infest nine states. The most effective way to get rid of fire ants is to kill the queen ant. Only bait experts say, can completely destroy a fire ant mound. Liquid or powder fire ant insecticides may never reach the queen whose nest lies deep down in the mound. With bait the queen dies, and no new ants are produced. So the mound dies.

haver compiled a 5 & 1 record to grasp 2nd place, which included $45. and trophies, while Vernon Petrich and Curtis Oeltjin of Hockley ran their record to 4 & 2 to take 3rd place, $35. and trophies

Wallerite Betty Schroeder is becoming a force to be reckoned with in the horseshoe pitching game around this area, as her name is always at or near the top of the winners' tallies after the competitions are over.

The Waller Area Chamber of Commerce thanks all of the contestants who came out to make this contest as tough and as much fun as it was, and Chairperson Patsy Marburger promises that the field will be larger and tougher next year.

"The Star Spangled Banner," when it was first published, bore the title "The Defense of Fort McHenry."

Stitch 'N Knit Becomes Dealer

Stitch 'N Knit, on 12th Street in Hempstead, now boasts a dealership of Toyota Home Knitters, a product of the Toyota at Home division, as well as a dealership for Yarn Country Yarn. As a result of modern technology, the Toyota Home Knitter offers a wide variety of knitting capabilities as well as speed and the opportunity for even inexperienced knitters to create beautiful knitted items from sweaters and hats to blankets. Opal Trawick, manager of Stitch 'N Knit, attended a Knit-a-Rama seminar to learn about these time-saving machines. At the seminar, Mrs. Trawick met Evelyn L. Wellberg, the Texas representative for Yarn Country Yarn. Ms. Wellberg came to Stitch 'N Knit in April to help Mrs. Trawick demonstrate the Home Knitter to her customers.

She knitted a child's slipper in 5 minutes as a demonstration of the speed and simplicity of the Home Knitter. An adult's slipper can be made in 30 minutes and a cardigan can be finished within four hours. The machines demonstrated were the Toyota KS 901 and the Bulky 10. Prices for the Home Knitters range from $339.95 to $629.95 with lots of attachments available to purchase with the machines or to add on later. Stitch 'N Knit also carries a full line of Yarn Country Yarn for use with the Home Knitter or for those who prefer the traditional method of knitting. Mrs. Trawick has a video demonstration set up and will be glad to give personal demonstrations to show how easy these machines can be to use. Stop by and ask about it...they'll be glad to help.

On May 23, the United States House of Representatives rejected 329 to 102 a GOP alternative budget proposed by Rep. Delbert Latta (R-Ohio). Latta's budget eliminated an array of domestic programs, including the Synthetic Fuels Corp., Small Business Administration direct loans, the Economic Development Administration, and cuts funding for other programs like Amtrak and Urban Development Action Grants. The proposal, which allows defense spending to keep up with inflation in Fiscal 1986 was supported by just one Democrat-Florida Rep. Earl Hutto and opposed by 79 Republicans. Of those 27 representatives voting from Texas, here are their positions on the vote.

On May 23, the United States House of Representatives, led by Budget Committee Chairman William Gray (D. Pa) approved its version of the 1986 Budget Resolution by a 258 to 170 vote. The measure eliminates just one federal domestic program (revenue sharing), whereas the Senate Measure approved May 10, eliminates 13. The House budget which "freezes" defense, agricultural, housing, transportation, education and other "social service" programs at fiscal 1985 levels, was warmly welcomed by freespending liberals like Rep. Mike Lowry (D.Wash.) and Mario Biaggi (D.-NY), who effusively praised it for slashing defense, allowing full Social Security COLAs, and retaining "pork-barrel" programs like Export-Import Bank direct loans, the Small Business Administration and Urban Development Action Grants. Of the Texas Representatives (27) voting, these are the results:

Not Voting: Sam Hall

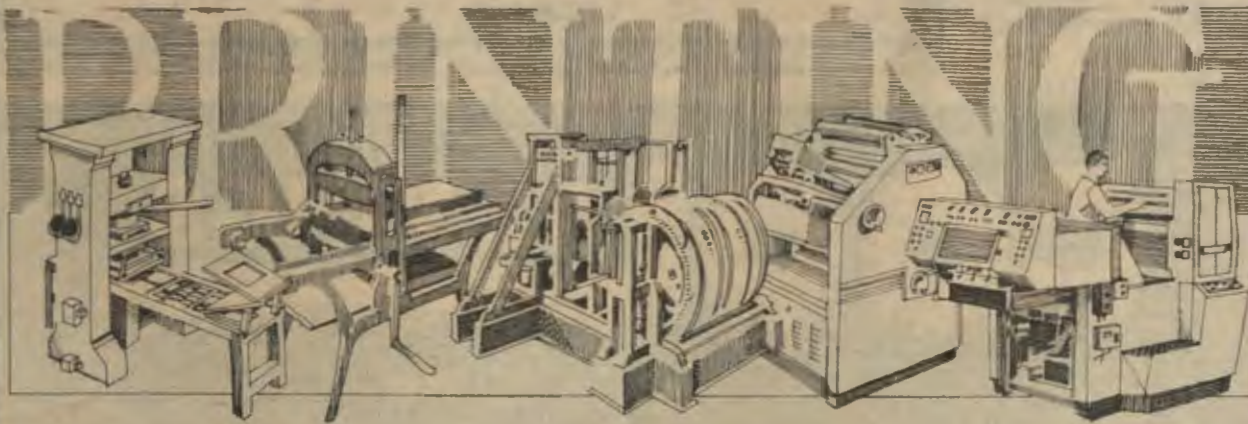

I encourage the reader to read the two Budget Resolutions and decide which one is more in line with the cuts you think need to be made. Then look at the way the Congressmen voted. Did these Texans voice your desires as the Representatives of the people?

The Day The Train Came To Hempstead

The town of Hempstead was laid out as a railroad town in 1856. Through an agreement with the Hempstead Town Co. lots and blocks in the new town were offered to Houston and Texas Central Railroad. (H&T) as inducement to bring the railroad through the town. An agreement was struck and by 1857 the railroad was in operation from Houston to Cypress by May. 1857 it was completed to Hockley and by 1858 the H&TC was completed to Hempstead. On June 30 and July 1 of that year Hempstead held a great celebration on the arrival of the train. There were barbecues and fireworks and parades, and drill teams of soldiers who marched out to meet the train. And though people came to Hempstead by foot, on horseback, in wagons and buggies, several hundred rode in on the train. Ten platform cars and three passenger cars were loaded with people were aboard. The H&TC line was completed to Navasota by August, 1859, later to Millican where it was halted by the Civil War. (Taken from A History of Waller County, Texas.)

Fire Ants—What You Should Know

The more you know about how a fire ant colony is structured, the better you'll know how to control this unwelcome and dangerous pest.

Destroy the queen of this insect pest, and you destroy the mound.

Fire ants maintain a highly structured caste system. There is only one queen, and only she reproduces. Drones tend the brood while workers feed the colony, including the queen. The workers surface at night or during cooler weather to forage for food; during the heat of the day, they remain deep inside the mound (an important factor when applying baits).

Baits are the safest and most effective control method. If bait is sprinkled around a mound's base, worker ants will carry it inside where it becomes part of the food chain. When the queen ant eats the bait, she dies, and the mound dies with her—within two to four weeks.

Left uncontrolled, the queen ant continues to reproduce from one fertilization, laying 200 eggs per day. If the mound is disturbed, she moves to another location to begin a new colony. That's why to destroy the fire ant mound you must get to the heart of the problem: the fire ant queen.

The best way to suppose what may come is to remember what is past.

HOW'S YOUR HEAD FOR SAFETY?

Q My neighbor recently saw a mound on our lawn and told me it could be fire ants. Are they dangerous, and if so, how do I get rid of them?

A. They are dangerous and you can get rid of them. Experts report fire ants are found nearly everywhere—on lawns, gardens, parks, athletic fields, range and farm lands. Persons or animals found allergic to fire ant bites suffer severe symptoms that include difficult breathing, chest pains, nausea, hives and sometimes death. Anyone bitten, whether allergic or not, will receive a burning, itchy sore or welt.

The most effective way to get rid of a fire ant mound is to kill the queen. This is done by using a bait that gets into the food chain. The death of the queen signals the end of the mound, as no new workers are produced. The bait is available in one pound bags for homeowners and 25-pound bags for farmers at garden centers, hardware or farm supply stores.
