VARIETY

By Roy W. Hilliard

The time has come for us to again greet you, our present principal. We have had to give out one of the Smartphone Editors. We are, to give new interest to our last issue and no longer use the same name. We are looking for new writers.

All of us rejoiced in the fact that Prairie View was one of the 20 institutions in this country and one of the two Negro colleges selected by the Commission of Teacher Education of the American Council on Education for experimental work in teaching.

The Prairie View Hospital received a very high rating recently by the State Board. The hospital has received a report of a letter commending the work that was done. The hospital is now providing a new service to the communities.

The two Boone brothers received a beauty queen for the next two months. One graduate is now in the hospital and the other in the hospital.

All of the teachers and students in the college are being tested for their intelligence. The test is given by the state. The results will be used for the next academic year.

For your information, we have added speakers here and the band will play. The baseball team is also playing better than ever before.

In conclusion, we have added some new students to our new field of study. We are very happy to have them here and look forward to their future in the college.

A Reconstruction of Our Ethical Standards

By Dr. Frank G. Davis, Professor of Philosophy

(Continued from last installment) In an era when entertainment is becoming a major part of our culture, it is important to recognize the type of entertainment which has educational and social value and to understand its role in our society.

Furthermore, these activities can serve as a source of income for the college and can be a way to promote the college's image.

In conclusion, it is important to understand the role of entertainment in our society and how it can be used to benefit the college.
