CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS - Be Careful - The Life You Save May Be Your Own

You have heard and read this slogan, especially during the last three years, until to some of you it must approach in familiarity the Biblical injunction "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

While it is obvious that many, many people heed neither injunction, there is evidence that the safety warning has had direct and positive effect upon you. For example, a taxicab driver heard it one night and was a few minutes late to his appointment. Upon arrival he said, "I just heard a traffic accident program on the radio, and I slowed down. I thought I'd better get here in one piece, even if I arrived a little late."

But not enough of you have heard - and heeded. Take our holidays, for instance. They are no longer holidays, they are horrordays.

We are all convinced that this lesson - "Be Careful - The Life You Save May Be Your Own" - is extremely important. Please take precautions during the holidays. We want you back to the campus next year in - One Piece,
