YOUR WEEK

Scene at Prairie View

The graciousness with which Miss Doris Webb explains how much nicer her new corner quarters in the "Ivory Towers" are than the old office. The aplomb with which Miss Ezra Henderson, when answering the telephone, says "President's Office". . . Paul Wall quickly establishing himself as a permanent fixture in the Registrar's Office. Ah - h those Morehouse men . . . affable, pipe-puffing Thomas Price Dooley pondering problems of the Division of Arts & Sciences . . . President E. B. Evans and the Ag Division's George L Smith discoursing learnedly about latest Washington trends . . . The bright scrubbed-clean faces of the freshmen women as they rush assuredly by in saddle oxfords, skirts and sweaters . . . The seriousness of purpose with which Froncell Reece, Reginald Sapenter and Ray Harrison, former Purple & Gold track stars, pursue their graduate studies. Prairie View men of whom we are extremely proud. . . Erudite F. G. Fry lucidly explaining the complex hair-line workings of the new Westinghouse generator. . . Craftsman W. H. Stickney proudly elaborating on the virtues of the new Nash . . . Miss Veida Williamson coyly taking the Snack Bar's Lee Ester Perkins to task about some minor thing in the Red Room.
