A Recommendation

The chapel exercise Sunday morning left little to be desired by the thoughtful parishoner. Simply planned without any deference to ostentation, as usual, from organ prelude to the soul-stirring "Sevenfold A-men" it was the kind of wholesome experience at greatly enhances living.

It would be difficult to indicate just which part of the service contributed most to the feeling of spiritual well-being one felt after it was over. There was the unity of participation in "Holy, Holy, Holy!". The fine, sensitive interpretation of Roberts' "Seek Ye The Lord" by the college choir with Billie White as soloist. Mr Phillips's logical, challenging discourse on "God's Limitation" ending with moments for silent prayer set to the slightly audible, yet impelling strains of "Have Thine Own Way Lord" from the organ. Much in the manner of a large diamond which reflects light with dazzling brightness, each facet of this worship hour seemed to have caught some of the brilliance of celestial fire revealing anew the great un-scaled heights of human destiny.

For those men and women whose mental maturity allows them to appreciate a worship hour devoid of superficial fripperies we recommend the Sunday morning service at Prairie View.
