‘Excellence’ Is Goal For 86th Academic Year

The academic session scheduled to begin on September 13 will mark the 86th year at Prairie View A. and M. College.

“Academic excellence” has been set as the major goal for the year. The emphasis in improving academic performance is a continuation of goals established three years ago at the College.

The long range building program at the College is expected to be continued during the term with the construction of a Health and Physical Education building.

Enrollment for the 86th year is expected to top the record figure of nearly 3100 established last Fall. First year enrollment of nearly 1100 was the highest in the College’s history. Officials at the College are taking a serious look at the problem of adequate housing facilities as enrollment continues to mount.

Summer session enrollment reached a total of 2276, the highest ever recorded for the first six-week term.

“Improving scholarship” is the theme of Freshman Orientation Week which will open the Fall activities. This subject will also be emphasized during the Faculty Conference scheduled on September 10-12. Special programs and activities for the year are given consideration and study at this time.

Highlights of the current school year include a major emphasis in cultural development, often cited as a deterrent to academic progress; improvements in faculty and instruction; and continued emphasis in science, mathematics and technical training.

Freshman Orientation Program Scheduled September 13-16

Four days of special orientation activities have been planned for first year students beginning on September 13. This is official opening day for the Fall semester. Activities during this period will include assembly programs, guided tours, Prairie View spirit and ideal sessions, placement testing, and several other interesting events.

Summer Session Enrollment Is Highest On Record

Prairie View A. and M. College’s summer session enrollment is the highest recorded for the first six-week term in the history of the institution.

The present enrollment exceeds 2200 students and is expected to increase as new students enroll for short courses and special programs scheduled to begin during the term, L. C. McMillan, the College registrar, stated. Previous high for first term summer enrollment was 1989, which was recorded in 1951.

The trend in summer school enrollment is keeping pace with the regular session increases. Prairie View enrollment last fall was the highest ever recorded. The 3100 enrollment figure represented a 17 percent increase over the previous year. Enrollment of first year students last fall was also a record.

The College’s 52nd summer session is enriched with several workshops, short courses, institutes and special programs. These include programs in mathematics, science, agricultural extension, agricultural engineering, music, home economics, language arts, reading, school administration, cosmetology, auto mechanics, special education, athletics and cheerleading.

The second six-week term begins July 16 and closes on August 25. Summer commencement exercises are scheduled for August 23.
