B. THE SUMMER SESSION

An increase in our summer session enrollment has been noted, and, in general, the term has moved along very smoothly. July marks the mid-point of our summer program, and the change of semesters will take place. It is our hope that the second six weeks period will be equally as successful as the first.

C. SHORT COURSES AND INSTITUTES

Attention is called to the several short courses and institutes scheduled during the second semester. The Clinic for Baton Twirlers and Cheerleaders was well attended and received last summer, and we look forward to another good session this month. The educational tour to the Western States has drawn much interest. Also scheduled are the long-established Cosmetology Institute and Coaching Clinic, both scheduled during the month of July. Staff members are encouraged to publicize these special activities and their value to our educational program.

D. SUMMER RECREATION

A well-planned Summer Recreation program will continue through July and August. A committee has scheduled daily activities--including sports, educational films, hobby instruction, woodwork, leadercraft, games, recitals, socials and a selection of the best movies available. You are invited to participate, and tell your students about these services.

Campus youngsters are engaged in League Baseball and will continue to furnish good entertainment for those who like this summer sport. The volunteer coaches and all who support this activity are to be commended for this community interest.

H. IN CLOSING

How's your public relations? Did you know that your happiness at home, your progress on the job, the impressions you make on others-- all these depend on your "public relations," your ability to win and hold the goodwill of others. Are you a good listener? Do you avoid unnecessary criticism and complaints? Do you smile enough and keep your appearance up to par? Are you genuinely interested in others? These and other such questions will make a good test for you. Good public relations do not just happen; you must do something to create favorable attitudes toward you and your institution.

Very truly yours,

E. B. Evans
President
