A man should believe in beauty - the beauty of a flower-filled meadow, and the lights and shadows forming intricate patterns neath a large shade tree at high noon.....

A man should believe in justice - a cosmic justice which invalidates the concepts of "better than" and "worse than" as they refer to human beings.....A man should believe in peace - the peace and calmness which comes to men who live so that other men may have a "reverence for life." A man should believe in God.

What do you believe?
