Bands return to dome for showdown

By Ryan McGinty Sports Editor

In a weekend normally reserved for football, the marching bands of Prairie View and Southern will take center stage.

For the first time since the 1998 band fight, the Southern University "Human Jukebox" marching band, under the direction of Dr. Isaac Greggs will return to Houston to meet the "Marching Storm" of Prairie View A&M which is directed by Professor George Edwards.

The fight, which gained national exposure, caused thousands of dollars in instrument damage for both bands and embarrassment to both schools. SWAC Commissioner Rudy Washington issued two game suspensions for each band.

Southern University complied for both games while Prairie View sat out one weekend but performed the following weekend due to contractual agreements with the annual Al Libscomb State Fair Classic.

When told the band fulfilled its contractual obligation, Washington suspended the entire athletic program at Prairie View on a temporary basis and the school was fined thousands of dollars. During that period, there were rampant rumors that the university was going to leave the conference due to the fine, but it was paid and Prairie View remained in the SWAC.

The 1998 football game, which was held in Beaumont, will be a far cry from the 2000 edition.

In Beaumont, the fans exceeded the stadium capacity, which forced many fans to watch the game on a hill surrounding the stadium.

The playing field was below collegiate standards due to inaccurate yard markings and size. There was also a large contingent of mosquitoes

Student government reaches new heights

By Sheleah Hughes Editor-in-Chief

The semester is only 4-weeks- old and the Student Government Association is busy preparing for PVAMU's next 80 years.

"Prairie View needs to be a political powerhouse, " said Desmond Thomas, SGA President for the 2000-2001 school year.

"We have to recreate the image that the public has of us and that will take all of our students getting involved, Thomas said."

That is exactly what he and other members of the organization are doing.

"Speakout", a freshmen forum, allows new Panthers the opportunity to voice their opinions on subjects that affect them from social activities to housing.

Desmond Thomas, 2000-2001 SGA President

The administration is also emphasizing political awareness during this voting year.

The theme for the voter registration is "Get 'Crunk' and Vote." In col-'laboration with other organizations, the SGA will hold townhall meetings where candidates from each political party can answer questions from students.

"More and more people are interested

Regulations decrease driving, enforce walking

By Christy Thorton Panther Staff

Getting to class in the morning can seem quite frustrating for those students who drive to class.

Traffic backs up and streets get very congested, and many people ignore the fact that Prairie View is a walking campus especially when the temperature rises to the 100degree mark. Prairie View has been a walking campus since 1986 when the area between Drew Hall and Suarez- Collins was closed off.

Because University Village did not exist then and most classes were literally right outside the front door, driving to class was pointless.

Now that campus housing has moved a few feet farther from most classes, students feel it is nessesary to drive to class.

The University designates certain parking areas for certain drivers. The lots on campus are for faculty and staff, commuters and visitors who have parking stickers.

Beginning Sept. 13, cars parked on campus that did not have stickers or whose stickers did not match the lot number in which they were parked

Football schedule needs more cupcakes

By Ryan McGinty Sports Editor

The critics were right all summer, why is the football team playing such a hard schedule?

After witnessing the defeat to McNeese State last weekend, the athletic administration needs to find our old pals Langston, Howard Payne and Panhandle State to pad the win column.

After McNeese suffered an embarrassing loss to Miami two weeks ago, they handed the Panthers the same treatment they suffered a week before.

A 1997 1-AA finalist, McNeese proved to be too strong for the Panthers. The Cowboys rolled up close to 600 yards of total offense while the Panthers could only muster 50 vards.

For the second straight week, the Panthers have yet to have positive rushing yardage. The Cowboys could have had more yards, but they elected to take their first string players out of the game during the second half. That proved to be a good thing because the Panther defense could not stop Jessie Burton, the Cowboy's tailback who had 189 rushing yards in the first half.

What made this game interesting was the fact that President Hines was on the sideline for a brief moment. I wonder what was going on in his head when he looked up at the scoreboard?

If the team continues with less than 30 scholarships, it needs to play teams they can overpower. A win over our old friends Langston and Panhandle is a win. Forget what others think.

Good luck to the Panthers against Southern (0-2) this weekend.

Dorsey brings 'hard hat' philosophy

By Will Joiner Panther Staff

Chances are that if you are a Prairie View sports fan you have noticed the new golden dome on campus.

No, it's not a new chapel or a new athletic facility for those of you who do not pay attention to sports. It is our university's 20th head coach, Larry Dorsey, wearing his golden hard hat.

The words "Do Your Job First" are painted across the front of Dorsey's hat, a motto which means that everyone's job must be done in the game of football for things to work out completely.

"It's very important that everyone studies and does their job. If everyone does that then we won't have any problems," said Dorsey.

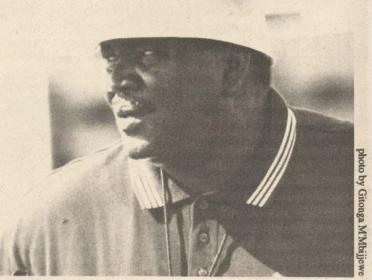

A Mississippi native, Dorsey graduated from Ten- 4. nessee State University.

While playing football there under the legendary John Merritt, he earned All-American status in 1974 and 1975 as a receiver.

As a result of these accomplishments, Dorseywas drafted in the third round by the San Diego Chargers.

Dorsey began his coaching career in 1982.

He has coached at Delta State University (where he earned his master's degree), Mississippi Valley

Both schools expect a large following this weekend due to interest in the bands.

Lessons for freshmen from the diary of a senior

Cornesha Avington Panther Staff

Well, here I am at Prairie View A&M University in my fourth year and the campus continues to evolve on a daily basis. As we all know, University College is complete and houses nearly 1,300 freshmen. But, why did we have a reported 2,500 incoming freshmen?

What I witnessed next brought tears to my eyes and enraged me with anger as I paced the yard on terms of business. Freshmen were walking around crying and panicking because they did not have a place of residency due to the housing shortage.

Banks and L.O. Evans had to be reopened to house these students.

Being that I am a senior, I have been through a lot of hardships at PV and I am so grateful for the strength I have gained, but I would do anything to try to make the experience for the younger students easier than mine. They already have an advantage by living in dorm rooms that are similar to ones in hotels and are well equipped with a movie theater and computer labs.

They do not have to live three to a room and six to a bathroom, which became a difficult situation for me when I had unsanitary roommates.

Oh, yes I remember my mattress being too small for the bedframe and roaches getting comfortable in my bathroom cabinet like it was the hangout spot. With three different personalities in one room we were bound to have disagreements, but we respected each other's privacy and learned to adapt to our environment.

Nothing could have prepared me for the unforgettable memories I have made thus far, and I would like to encourage the freshmen to make beautiful memories while continuing to stay focused on the task at hand.

I have heard many complaints about the visitation policies and frankly, I feel it is not going to change until you make it change. If you are so grown-up and do not need any discipline then start acting like it. I work in one of the buildings and I observe the actions of the students on a daily basis.

The maturity level is at a low point, excluding a small number. This is not high school nor a playground, so if you all want to advance and be treated as adults, start conducting yourselves in an adult manner.

Including cleaning up after yourselves and not taking advantage of the housekeeper which I totally disagree with anyway. I mean, seriously, what are we teaching these freshmen? Just because something is given to you does not give you the right to abuse the gesture.

Welcome to the Real World people and guess what? It is going to become harder, but the learning experience is priceless. Cherish what you have today and prepare for the storm that lies ahead because it does exist. Freshmen, consider yourselves the lucky few who have surpassed the undying struggles of dorm life, but I hope you can survive the upcoming years.
