Redmond wins presidency; vice presidency still undecided

By Christina Johnson
Editor in Chief

Nigel Redmond, a senior management information systems major, from Dallas, Texas has been elected president of the Student Government Association president for the 2004-2005 academic year. Redmond defeated his opponent, Brian Rowland, a community development graduate student, by receiving 524 votes. Rowland obtained 231 votes.

The candidates for executive vice president were Tracie Calloway, Courtney Smith, and Eddie White. Calloway came in with 290 votes, Smith received 256 votes, and White obtained 217 votes. Sources close to the elections committee said that there would be a run off election be-

Wilhelmina Delco, John Hope Franklin to visit Prairie View

Special to The Panther

Two leaders in education, Wilhelmina Delco and John Hope Franklin, will be on campus Wednesday, April 21st for the dedication of the Wilhelmina Fitzgerald Delco Collection. Prairie View A&M University will formally dedicate Mrs. Delco's collection on the fourth floor gallery of the John B. Coleman Library at 9 a.m.

Faculty, staff, students, and university officials will gather, along with the internationally known historian and scholar, John Hope Franklin, for the dedication. As part of the dedication ceremony, Delco and Franklin will both share reflections on their personal experiences in higher education.

Delco, a former member of the Texas House of Representatives, was instrumental in opening up the Permanent University Fund's available resources for use by Prairie View A&M University in the 1980s when she served with the House Higher Education Committee.

Delco was also the first woman and the first African American to serve as Speaker Pro Tempore, the second highest position in the Texas House of Representatives. She was also the first woman and the first African American to serve as Speaker Pro Tempore, the second highest position in the Texas House.

The university is particularly pleased to have Franklin participate in the dedication. The education leader and prolific author is credited with reshaping the way African American history is understood and taught. His landmark publication From Slavery to Freedom is now in its eighth edition and has been translated into five languages. Franklin has served on the faculties of several universities, including Howard University, Duke University and the University of Chicago.

Kerry has lead over Bush among Hispanics in polls

MIAMI_ John Kerry, the presumed Democratic presidential nominee, holds a wide but not necessarily comfortable lead over President Bush among Hispanic voters nationwide, giving both sides room to maneuver within that critical constituency, according to a new poll.

Results of The Herald/Zogby International Hispanic Poll foreshadow an aggressive outreach effort by both campaigns as they seek to woo a coveted voting bloc that has the potential to tip key battleground states such as Florida, New Mexico and Arizona.

The photo of “Sunny,” dressed in cheerleader garb and lounging seductively on a TCU sign, remains on the escort service’s Web site.

“We are disappointed that the university’s image has been used in this manner,” spokeswoman Tracy Syler-Doctson said in a written statement. TCU attorneys have contacted the escort Web site and asked officials to remove the photo.

Sunny, who wouldn’t give her full name, said she only posed for a photo on campus and doesn’t understand TCU’s complaint.

TEXAS_Like lawmen of the Old West, Texas Christian University officials last week gave an escort they say is posing as a school cheerleader 24 hours to get out of town, or in this case, remove her photo from the Internet.

tween Calloway and Smith because neither candidate obtained more than 50 percent of the total votes cast. A date has yet to be scheduled for the election.

Bryan Waters, who ran unopposed for vice president of research and development, won the position easily with 656 votes.

Redmond, 21, said he was blessed with this opportunity to serve the student body. “It was in God’s plan for me to get this position,” he said. “I’ve been an undergrad for four years and I’ve dealt with the problems of other students, such as financial aid, housing, and parking. I’m working for all of these improvements.”

Redmond said, “One of the first things I want to do is implement housing for families, students with children. I also want to get a daycare started. These are major things I want to start on campus.”

Minority Association of Pre-Health Students holds second annual health conference

By Rachel Wells
Panther Staff

The Minority Association of Pre-Health Students held its second annual Health Conference and College Admissions Workshop, Saturday, April 3, in the New Science Building.

The conference was held to "inform the community about different ways to better their health," according to Shana Stoddard, organizer of the event. The Minority Association of Pre-Health Students wanted to address the "discrepancies in the health system" that explained why African Americans do not always get the best health care.

The event started with free eye tests from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. that was provided by Prevent Blindness Texas, a non-profit voluntary health organization that provides free eye screenings in the local communities for individuals who cannot afford quality vision care.

There was an eye test for individuals 35 years of age or older to check for glaucoma.

Glaucoma is a disease in which there is excess pressure in the eyes that can wear on the cells that form the optic nerve, which transmits visual information from the eyes to the brain. "Glaucoma is prevalent in African Americans," stated Janine Rhinehart, the contact person for Prevent Blindness Texas through the National Council of Negro Women.

There also were eye screenings for all individuals. If the acuteness of perception was 20/40, the person was referred to a doctor by Prevent Blindness Texas.

After the eye exams, the conference was divided into two parts. One was for adults aged 19 and older to address the health issues and the other part was for teens aged 13 to 18 discussing the admissions process and exploring careers in health professions.

There was a discussion on "Minority Health, a Community Concern" from 1:10 p.m. to 2 p.m.

After that, came the session about the Living Bank Organ Donations, which was provided by Beta Beta Beta, the honor society for the biology department and Life Gift, a non-profit organ procurement organization that collects and distributes organs all over Texas. The session was intended "to increase awareness on organ donation" because it is seen as a "shunned subject," according to Lakiesha Day, the leader of the session.

University receives $64,000 for summer study in China

Press Release

The Center for International and Area Studies (CIAS) at Prairie View A&M University has been awarded a grant of $64,000 for a five-week program of extensive academic study about life in China today and yesterday.

This latest award brings the total awards received from the Fulbright-Hays Group Abroad Project of the U.S. Department of Education to $356,000.

The China award will be used to study life in that country from a historical and contemporary perspective.

Geography, politics and economics are among a myriad of subjects educators from Prairie View A&M University, area high schools, and community colleges plan to explore when they embark on a summer trip that is being scheduled.

Workshops, visits to local museums and historical sites and sharing living experiences with Chinese families are also on the agenda for the group of about 15 academic travelers.

Dr. Jianjue Chen of the History Department will lead the group to China.

He was instrumental in writing the grant proposal with full support from Dr. Walle Engedayehu, director of the CIAS and head of Division of Social Work, Behavioral and Political Sciences.

College of Nursing to recruit in Brazos Valley

Press Release

Prairie View A&M University College of Nursing will begin a major recruiting effort in the Brazos Valley on Friday, April 30. The College will host an all-day workshop entitled Navigating a Career in Nursing at the Brenham Community Center at 101 North Chappell Hill St. from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The nursing college's administrators are asking the licensed nurses and prospective students to attend the conference to learn how to further their careers through higher education. The administrators will discuss the Bryan College Station location, the bachelor's and master's degree programs, the admissions process, financial aid, and scholarships. They will also have academic advisement and evaluation of transcripts during the workshop.

The administrators are seeking to enroll 15 or more students for the Bryan College Station nursing program in an effort to increase health care availability in the more rural arreas of Texas. They also hope to help alleviate the nursing shortage through this new recruiting effort.

For additional information contact Joyce Osborne at pvamnu.edu or call the admissions and counseling office at 713-797-7031. Also visit www.pvamnu.edu

Performances at Texas Relays fulfill expectations

By Steven M. Kennedy
Panther Staff

Austin, Texas was the place to be last weekend as the 77th Annual Clyde Littlefield Texas Relays got underway March 31 to April 3. Approximately 22,000 fans crammed into Mike A. Myers Stadium on Saturday to witness various records on the high school, college, and professional level be broken right before their very eyes. The University of Texas lady longhorn's track team was the highlight of the day in front of their home crowd, on their home track.

Houston native and former Westbury High School track star Raasin McIntosh who now is a senior hurdler for the University of Texas won the Most Outstanding Female Athlete title of the relays. McIntosh repeated as champion in the 400m. Hurdles with a time of (55.29), ran second leg on UT's 4x100 meter relay that finished second in the Olympic Qualifying event of the relays with a time of (43.58), and concluded an outstanding day by running the 2nd leg for UT's 4x400 meter relay that set a new NCAA, meet, and stadium record with a winning time of (3:23.75).

The University of Texas women weren't the only ones that were burning up the track on Saturday. Along with the lady longhorns the LSU men's track team also amazed the crowd with their performance in the Clyde Littlefield College men's 4x100 meter relay. LSU men's 4x100 meter relay featured 3 Houston natives in Kellie Willie (Sterling), Marvin Stevenson (Elsik) and Bennie Brazell (Westbury). Willie, Stevenson, Pete Coley, and Brazell who ran anchor leg for the tigers blew away the rest of the field clocking a blazing (38.93) to take the 4x100 meter relay title.

The LSU men's track team have won the last two national titles in the 4x100 meter relay and are looking to three-peat in June at the NCAA track and field championships. Along with the men the LSU women who feature national champion sprinter Muna Lee showed the crowd at Myers Stadium why they are regarded as one of the toughest in the nation to compete against. The LSU women won the 4x100 meter relay (43.34), with the quartet of Lolo Jones, Monique Hall, Nadia Davy, and Muna Lee. The Lady Tigers later returned to the track to capture the 4x200 meter relay crown with a time of (1:30.42). Other standouts at the relays were sophomore sprinter Brendan Christian of the University of Texas who won the 100 meters with a time of (10.13) in the Olympic Qualifying event of the relays.

Although the high schools and colleges were large in numbers at the relays, there was no doubt that the most anticipated athletes were the members of the USA Olympic Track Team. On the men's side Olympians Maurice Greene, Jon Drummond, Larry Wade, Allen Johnson, Terrence Trammell, Bernard Williams, J.J. Johnson, Jerome Young, Ato Boldon, and Charles Austin all competed at the relays. The team of Drummond, Williams, Darvis Patton, and J.J. Johnson won the 4x100 meter relay in the Olympic qualifying event of the relays with a time of (38.14), edging out Maurice Greene's team who ran a (38.30) that finished in second.

USA hurdler and former NCAA champion for Texas A&M Larry Wade won the 110-meter hurdles and set a new meet, and stadium record with a time of (13.13).

On the women's side the likes of Inger Miller, Chryste Gaines, Torri Edwards, Allyson Felix, and many other members of the USA team were witnessed at the relays. The team of Angela Daigle, Gaines, Miller, and Edwards won the women's 4x100 meter relay in the Olympic qualifying event of the relays with a time of (42.70) setting a new meet record.

Other award winners of the Texas Relays were Bershawn Jackson (Most Outstanding Male Performer), University of Texas women (Most Outstanding Women's Team), and the Long Beach Wilson High School women (Most Outstanding High School Women's Team). Prairie View's own Lewis Edmonson who now runs professionally also competed at the relays in the 110-meter hurdles, and in the Olympic Qualifying 4x100 meter relay with the USA team.

Lady Panthers' offense overwhelms Grambling

By Rodney Palmer
Panther Staff

It seemed more like batting practice than a conference game, as the Lady Panther softball team took on the Lady Tigers of Grambling State this weekend in a lopsided back-to-back doubleheader.

The Lady Panthers racked up run after run, including a deep shot to centerfield by junior shortstop Laura Quezaba in the bottom of the 2nd inning, putting the game out of reach hastily at 6-0.

The highlight of game one came in the bottom of the third inning, when junior second baseman Amanda Launer sent a monstrous three run home run over the left field wall, putting the Lady Panthers up 10-0. Junior leftfielder Rosaline Ash and sophomore Kimberly Brooks played key roles with RBIs late in the game, helping PV close out game one, 14-0.

Junior pitcher Jaime Cain pitched a stellar game two, allowing no hits and striking out five batters through four innings, before going on to complete the shutout. Appalling pitching by GSU freshman pitcher Kerri Luxton brought in three runs, placing the Lady Panthers up 5-0 in the fifth inning.

In the bottom half of the inning, Amanda Launer

smacked a colossal grand slam, adding the exclamation point to a 10-0 PV victory. "Consistency is the key," said co-head coach Raymond Burgess, who helped take over the reigns after the resignation of coach A.D. James. "We have to work on being consistent at competing and winning."

The Lady Panthers dominated in a 9-3 win in game one Sunday afternoon. Significant RBIs by Launer, junior first baseman Christina Reyes, and senior centerfielder Kimberly Hayden late in the sixth inning ended the chances of a GSU comeback. "Kimberly is a great example for our team," said graduate assistant coach Carolyn Hutchings. "She's an amazing playmaker and a great kid."

In game two, Cain continued her impressive pitching, quickly retiring GSU's hitters. A deep centerfield rip by Launer brought in a quick run and gave PV an early 1-0 lead. The Lady Panthers were streaking offensively, beginning with an RBI single by Rosaline Ash, reeling in two runs. A deep fly to right field by freshman outfielder Nikki Lilly forced the game to be called, with PV being ahead 9-0.

"I was pleased with the way we were able to come together, and our defense was outstanding," said co-head coach Alicia Pete. "If they can keep it up, we will be ready for the SWAC tournament."

The Lady Panthers will return to the diamond to host conference foe TSU April 16 and 17 for another back-to-back doubleheader.

Jay Pennywell retires from Prairie View as Director of Career Outreach

Special to the Panther

After twenty years of service to Prairie View A&M University, Johnson E. Pennywell retired, effective February 29, 2004. Pennywell served as Director of Career and Outreach Services at the University from June 1991 to February 2004. Upon his retirement from the United States Army in May 1984, having served as the professor of military science at Prairie View A&M University for four years, Pennywell joined the staff of the University as the director of School Relations and coordinator of the Pre College Institute. In 1991, he became the director of Career and Outreach Services a position he held for thirteen years. He also served as the interim executive assistant to Prairie View A&M University's President Julius W. Becton in 1989-1990.

Pennywell's significant achievements as director of School Relations included an increased enrollment of thirty-one percent during the period 1984-1989. He was also instrumental in the improvement of the entering students' average SAT and ACT scores state averages from 1984 to 1989. In 1984 he implemented the Texas Youth Opportunities Unlimited (YOU) Program for disadvantaged youth, which served more than 2,000 high school students during the nine years of the program at Prairie View A&M University. Pennywell helped to centralize all of the Pre-College Enrichment Programs for high school students. Under Pennywell's management of the Career and Placement Center, the number of employers recruiting Prairie View A&M University students significantly increased to more than 600 over seven years. Additionally, Pennywell served as the principal investigator for two grants that supported student co-op education and pre-college science program. When asked what was his greatest achievement in the position, Pennywell said, that providing opportunities for the students to achieve their professional goals was fulfillment for him.

Pennywell earned his master of science degree in public and international relations from George Washington University, Washington, D.C. and a bachelor of science in biology education from Southern A&M University in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. He is also a graduate of the U.S. Naval Command and General Staff College and the U.S. Army War College. His career spans more than forty years of professional and administrative experiences, organizational development, and strategic planning, budgeting and fund development in higher education and in the military. He began his career in the United States Army in 1962 and progressed through the ranks of Colonel, having completed many tours of duty in the United States, Europe, Asia and the Middle East.

Pennywell holds or has held membership in several professional, social and civic organizations including Phi Delta Kappa Education Fraternity, National Association of College and Employers, Southwestern Association of Colleges and Employers, National Association of Student Affairs Professionals, United Way Inc., and Life member of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., and a Regional Area Director. He also served as a member of the White House Initiative for Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCU) Task

Team to strengthen government and private sector employment, University representative to NAFEO, Black Executive Exchange Program sponsored by the National Urban League.

Pennywell is married to Juanita Freeman of Muscle Shoals, Alabama; they have three sons- Rodney, an engineering graduate of Texas A&M University, Darryl, an electrical engineering graduate of Prairie View A&M University, and Brock, a physical therapy graduate of University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston, Texas, and an adopted son MAJ Ronald Gilliam, a finance graduate of Prairie View A&M University. The Pennywells also have three grandchildren.

Pennywell plans to use his new freedom to spend time with family, fishing and enjoying his "honey dos."

MEMORANDUM

DATE: March 31, 2004
TO: Prospective Financial Aid Students
FROM: Student Financial Services Office
RE: Fall 2004 Deadline

The Office of Student Financial Services is rapidly closing out our 2003-04 financial aid processing system and looking forward to awarding financial aid for the 2004-05 school year beginning in mid May of this year.

Please remember that the deadline for the receipt and completion of all financial aid documents is May 1, 2004.

The required documents are:

- FAFSA
- University Financial Aid Application
- Statement of Educational Purpose
- Authorization to Credit Account
- Loan Amount Request Form
- Master Promissory Note

If you are selected for Verification by the Department of Education you will need to supply additional documents. You can determine if you are selected by reviewing your SAR and see if you have an asterisk (*) by your EFC. If so, you have been selected for verification.
