For current interest, the 240 page annual will contain some two or three thousand photographs of campus groups, activities, and building scenes. A feature entitled "The Happenings" is designed to report all the campus news in pictures from September to August. Five class groups will be represented—the usual four and last year's senior class.

Walter Fucuals served as editor-in-chief of the publication with John Harris and Joseph R. Lee as assistants. Richard Hightower is business manager. Other student staff members include: Ella Lathan, Edis Paris, Clyde Orr and Gloria Odom.

Supervision and technical assistance was rendered by Mrs. J. R. Ross and C. A. Wood.

The 1951 staff which originally prepared the annual, which was unpublished, will receive full credit for their contribution. STUDENTS ATTEND NATIONAL ALPHA KAPPA MU CONVENTION

"The Responsibilities of the Scholar in improving Human Relations" was the theme of the fourteenth annual national convention of the Alpha Kappa Mu Honor Society attended by Miss Mary Ruth Dupont, a senior and president of the local chapter, Alpha Pi Mu, Miss Ruth Joy Edwards, a senior, Miss Jo Ann Jones and Miss Thelma DeRouen, both Juniors, Mr. W.A. Samuel, local sponsor and Miss T. M. Pratt, the chaperon for the trip. The convention was held on February 13-15, 1952 at Bethune-Cookman College in Daytona Beach, Florida with Dr. Stephen Y. Wright of Hampton Institute, nation President of Alpha Kappa Mu, presiding.

Eighty-three delegates, representing twenty-seven of the society's fifty-two chapters, were present. Prairie View's chapter, Alpha Pi Mu, ranked third place on the honor roll of active members.

The three-day convention included brilliant addresses from the following: Dr. T.C. Cathran of Arkansas A and M, (the site chosen for the '53 convention) who said that "scholarship was valueless unless it was dynamic and active in the solution of human problems and that the scholars must replace the technicians in leadership if we are to save the world"; Mrs. Theresa B. Wilkins of the U.S. Office of Education, who informatively explained the differences between scholarships and fellowships; Mrs. Marry McLeod Bethune, Founder and President Eemritus of Bethune-Cookman College, who held the audience spellbound in reviewing her struggles in building the college and in giving an account of her visit to the inauguration of President Tubman in Liberia, Africa; and Dr. R. O'Hara Lanier, president of T.S. U. who, in giving his address on the theme of the convention declared that "we should return to the fundamental principle of scholarship and that is to search for the truth regardless of the consequences" and that "he regrets that he cannot hire his teachers on how well they can teach and what they can produce rather than on how many degrees they have."

During their travel to and from Daytona Beach, the group made stops at Southern University in Baton Rouge, La., in Mobile, Alabama, and at Florida A & M in Tallahassee, Florida.

Home Ec Students Score Hit In Fashion Revue

The School of Home Economics presented "Accents on You," its annual fashion revue Thursday night, March 20. This striking fashion show highlighted the combined NFA and NHA Conference which convened here March 20-22.

The fashion revue featured attire from the bedroom to the ballroom. Garments used in the revue were made by the members of the Junior and Senior clothing classes of the Home Economics division. This revue, featuring so many varied fashion, was one of the largest ever held here.

A number of well-dressed young men added the masculine touch by showing off some of the latest "accents" in masculine attire.

This annual feature is under the direct supervision of Mrs. D. M. Ellis, clothing teacher in the H. E. department.

This revue is aimed toward helping the students to become socially competent with regard to dress. The show also gives the students who "model" their garments a chance to show off their taste for modeling. These models glided before the audience as if they were professionals. Every element of attire was considered in the revue; and accessories were matching and in excellent taste.

Last year the School of Home Economics was very fortunate to have a professional model, Elaine Cyrus Graham, to give the young ladies some tips on modeling. The fashion revues are always well attended and some day, it is believed that a real professional model may come from the midst of these persons who annually present to Prairie View "Accents on You."

In a cigarette, taste makes the difference— and Luckies taste better!

The difference between "just smoking" and really enjoying your smoke is the taste of a cigarette. You can taste the difference in the smoother, mellower, more enjoyable taste of a Lucky... for two important reasons. WHAT'S YOURS?

Everyone has a pet expression that he or she uses a lot—so much in fact that they become a part of their personality. The following are some expressions used quite frequently by the corresponding individuals. Have you noticed it?

- What's to it?—Henderson Raibe
- Hi Yah Cats!—Reginald Carrington
- What's Happening—Archie Mangrum
- Hey Little Raddy!—Mose Walton
- Reason Johnson—Effie Holloway
- I Don't Know What You Talking About—Lois Murry
- I Hate Myself For Being So Smart!—Dorothy Friday
- You Better Know It—Olethia Ross.
- Going To Be At The Rakin's!—Claude Lollie
- Can I Get Over, Lil' Daddy?—Herschel Gillins
- Later!—Drucilla Moore
- Yeah?—Conice Bryant
- Hey Jim!—Virginia Berry

It's one thing about slangs, they aren't always applicable to just any particular situation—they are sorta colloquial. Just the same they are diversional and okay to use if they don't spoil your "perfect" English grammar!

ROUND - ABOUT

By Edwardlene Fleeks

The skies are almost cloudless blue, trees are green, birds are chirping, flowers are blooming and looking "round-about" you can tell that spring is on its way.

Students are busy, typewriters are flying, the library is full of really "studious" people, books are open, so from looking "round-about" you can tell mid-term exams are near.

Senators are clamoring, people are buzzing, newspapers are full of it, platforms are planned for Democrats and Republicans, so from viewing "round-about," yes that's right, this is an election year!

The trees are occupied, benches in Senior Garden are valuable, girls and boys are vying for each others' attention and by noticing "round-about" you can see that cupid is on the job.

Yes, by looking, listening and talking "round-about" you learn a lot of things, see a lot of things and do a lot of things. So, sometimes when you have nothing particular to do, just go "round-about"

ORCHIDS AND ONIONS

ONIONS, to those who cut line when no one is looking.

ORCHIDS, to the College Choir for the splendid performance during the Educational Conference.

ONIONS, to those who don't respect the rights and privileges of others.

ORCHIDS, to Mittie Dow, editor of the French newspaper and her staff for a very enjoyable and informative edition.

ONIONS, to the fellows on the rail who make sly remarks when young ladies pass by.

ORCHIDS, to the king and queen of the Mardi Gras, James Sullivan and Nola Simon.

ONIONS, to the young ladies who don't at all times follow the rules of etiquette and social decorum.

CHANGE IN PUPIL ATTITUDE

According to recent studies the trends in discipline and attitudes in elementary and junior high school pupils have definitely changed. There was once a time when the bright pupils were the "darlings" of the class, that is to say, these bright pupils were well disciplined and their aggressiveness was channeled in the proper direction, but now the slow learners are better disciplined than the bright pupils. The aggressiveness of the bright pupils seem to have turned into conceitedness; these pupils now present most of the disciplinary problem.

The Happenings

Hey cats and chicks, better watch yourselves, spring is around the corner and the love bug is looking for new victims! From the looks of things, some people have already been bitten!

Say, you know everyone isn't able to have two young gentlemen escort her to a big formal dance like the Coronation. How about that Kay Francis Jones???????

Who is that couple that's so loving and happy with each other? None other than Mose Walton and Pearlle Hutchins—you better know it!

What's happening between Mabel Smith and Earl Brown and Mozell Austin and Charlie "Chu-Chu"????? Dolores Anderson and Calvin Williams seem to be traveling a pretty straight road—the one that leads to romance!

Plukie and Yvonne Shephard seem to be doing okay, but I wonder what role Grace Hardwell is playing in this act? Oh yes, wonder what direction her eyes are going since Dorothy Bellinger came on the campus?

Have you noticed that Audrey Scott and David Harper seem to have a lot in common? Could it be love—I wonder????? Oh no! Seems like James Sullivan has met his Waterloo—how about that Gloria Anderson?

Oh yes, all ships must sail, eh Norma Johnson? and it seems Oliver Harrison is your captain—well here's to "Smooth Sailing."

A real chick freshman, Eunice Carrington, seems to have captured the heart of the Sophomore President, Jimmy Jackson—that's real nice!

ATTENTION: BUREAU OF LONELY HEARTS: Our Prospects this month are: Doris Gayle Williams, Blossom Orum, Vonceil Iring, Gladys Hall, Rosemary Jordan, Lucy Darnell, Christine Washington, Jereline Frazier, Elvie Johnson, Vivian Bratcher, Cloyance Wallace, Harold Hyner, and Marvin Richards.

C. B. Smith, why is it you and a certain young lady can't get along—it is because you ask too many questions?

Norma Mae Wilson, who is the handsome young man with whom you are seen so often?

Congratulations are in order for Mabel Kinard for her recent engagement to Claude Christopher!

OUTSTANDING COUPLES FOR THIS MONTH ARE: Jettie Douglas—Abe Burton; Delores Hailey—Waymon Webster; Janie Thomas—James Crayton; Catherine Arnold—Joe Collins; Delores Jordan—Joseph Smith; Mildred Clack—Clemith J. Houston.

Africans Seek To Survive Domination

"Africans are possessed with a burning desire to survive European domination," Henry B. Cole, editor of the Daily Echo, Accra, Gold Coast, West Africa, told a Chicago reporter, December 15. "The Gold Coast is the most advanced colonial territory in Africa," Cole declared. He has been editor of the Echo since 1949. The paper is 14 years old and has a circulation of 10,000. Its parent paper, the Gold Coast Echo, a weekly, has a circulation of 8,000. Cole, who is touring the U.S. on an Exchange of Persons arrangement of the State Department, said the shortage of newsprint hampers the journalistic effort in Africa. He has had to reduce the size of the Daily Echo from eight to four pages. Newsprint may be secured from Scandinavia but costs an enormous 179 pounds ($400) a ton, he said. "African papers have a sense of mission," Cole declared. "They must fight to escape suppression by the British." Cole had high praise for Nnamdi Azikwe, militant American-trained African leader and publisher of half a dozen newspapers in West Africa.

WONDERING LOVE

If I were at all a coward
I'd jump over board and drown,
But since I am a brave man

I'll carry the bruise around.
Love thrills one's heart when it is true,
It chills one's soul when it is false;
And you can't quite explain the feeling

That comes from love that's lost.
Forget it, yes forget it is my crave,
Yet to do so leaves a vacant cave;
To remember, pierces through the heart

That carries many to their grave.
Then, must I just keep on loving
In spite of all the pain for loss?
Yes, love for the sake of loving

The chance to love pays the cost.
Love lost, is not lost . . . It pains!
Regain? Yes. No! I refrain.
Can the wound of a heart
From love that's lost,
Be permanently healed again?
I w-o-n-d-e-r !!!!

It presents the indexes to current periodical literature, magazines which are devoted to book reviewing and those which are helpful in a bibliographic way to students and faculty in investigations and research projects.

a free pack of CHESTERFIELDS if you know the answer and you are carrying a pack of CHESTERFIELDS when Mr. ABC asks you, "Do you know the CHESTER-FACT?" You can win two free packs if you can state the CHESTER-FACT verbatim and happen to be smoking a CHESTERFIELD from your own pack.

The contest opens April 1, when Mr. ABC will begin making calls on campus. He will approach students at random to ask, "Do you know the CHESTER-FACT?" The answers (a-fact-a-week) will appear at the bottom of the CHESTERFIELD ad in the Panther and will be announced elsewhere on campus by posters and other media.

All you have to do to win is to correctly state the CHESTER-FACT when you are approached by Mr. ABC. If you are carrying CHESTERFIELDS at the time, you win one free pack—two free packs if you are actually smoking a CHESTERFIELD from your own pack.

Health Facts

gallons of blood every 24 hours is the astonishing work done by the heart, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. The heart is about the size of a man's fist and is rated at 1-240th of a horse power; it never sleeps, loafs or take a vacation from the beginning of life to the end. The only rest it gets is between beats. Yet with all the work the heart has to do it does not give out suddenly unless it has been injured or ill-treated.

Under pressure of work the average person neglects his heart and unwittingly abuses it. The chief causes of heart trouble, aside from the deterioration of old age, are rheumatic fever, acute infectious diseases, chronic infections, syphilis, too abrupt return to activity after a serious illness, too strenuous exercise and overweight may be a factor.

Many of the signs which you may think mean heart trouble can be caused by one other disorder. Indigestion, lung trouble, or nervousness may cause pain near the heart, shortness of breath, fainting and irregularity of beat. If you have any of these symptoms, do not try to diagnose the condition yourself, but go to your doctor for an examination. He will be able to find out what is wrong and may tell you that your heart is sound.

ENGINEERS HEAR LECTURE

by Henry T. Wise, Jr.

An informal lecture concerning the operating principles of the six basic types of electrical indicating instruments used for electrical measurements and the characteristics which precision instruments must possess was given by Mr. Henry Berring, an official of the Weston Electrical Instrument Corporation, here Monday, February 25, in the I.E. Building. The lecture was attended by a combined group of electrical and mechanical engineering students and members of the faculty of the School of Engineering.

Several adaptations of principle were cited in which the basic indicating mechanisms can be arranged to perform special functions of measuring non-electrical quantities as well as complex electrical circuits. Actual models of the indicating instruments ranging from the earliest types to the most accurate present day precision types were displayed for observation during the lecture. The "exposure-meter", a familiar aid to photographers, was among those instruments displayed which are basically adapted to the principles of the indicating instrument.

Mr. Berring is currently on tour of Texas colleges and universities which provide training in electrical engineering having previously lectured at Texas University, Baylor University, Texas A. and M. College, and Rice Institute before coming to Prairie View.

The lecture by Mr. Berring was the first in a series of lectures to be presented by representatives of major electrical corporations according to a statement made by Mr. C.W. Miller, instructor in electrical engineering. Mr. Miller said that he plans to engage representatives of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation and the General Electric Corporation later this semester.

Student Gets Post At Sludge Plant

Mr. Otis C. Tolbert, a junior from Dallas, Texas in the department of Chemistry was recently employed by the maintenance department through the department of Natural Sciences (Chemistry) at the activated sludge treatment plant.

His duties require him to make daily tests of oxygen content of the sludge.

This determination is a chemical method for measuring the rate of oxygen utilization by the biological life of the mixed liquid. Likewise, it serves as a means of aeration in any aeration tank, if the dissolved oxygen level in the tank is maintained constant. Another phase of Mr. Tolbert's work includes the suspended solid test.

Mr. Tolbert is regarded as one of the exceptional students in his department.

"Holding Power" Cited As Number One Problem In Public Schools

The public school administrator in Texas Negro schools is in agreement with his superintendent and teachers that his most pressing problem is in improving human relations and participating more fully in community affairs.

Cited as the reason for this is that he is bogged down with administrative-clerical duties such as attendance problems, textbooks, supplies, plant and equipment, that he neither has time nor energy to project programs for improvement of the effectiveness of his school in the community pattern.

This discovery was revealed by speakers in the Conference on the Education of Negroes in Texas held at Prairie View A&M College Friday. More than 2000 public school workers and other Negro leaders from throughout the state were present for the one-day session.

George R. Woolfolk, chairman of the college Research Committee and J.D. Singletary, chairman of the department of Education presented the facts revealed in a recent preliminary study of educational administration in Texas public schools for Negroes.

Dr. Woolfolk, in presenting a profile of the principal, stated that "he or she is between 41 and 45 years of age, married, and his spouse a teacher. He is head of a small purely elementary or combined elementary and high school. His undergraduate training has been diversified, falling largely within the category of the humanities natural science, social science and general education; and his graduate training shows greatest emphasis in administration and supervision, elementary education, and health and other phases of education."

"It was enlightening to find," Dr. Woolfolk continued, "that 45 percent of the principals have received graduate training in nonsegregated schools over the country—although most of them received bachelor degrees from Prairie View and other Negro colleges in Texas. More than 70 percent of them have been in school since 1950."

"The average Negro principal was employed mainly because of his preparation and previous employment record rather than due to any outstanding traits of civic reputation or professional and community contribution. His salary ranges from $3,500 to $4,000 and since outside employment may be restricted, he has chosen the safe investment of real estate to hide away his surplus dollars."

"Although listed as his number one job, the principals admit their shortcomings in their tremendous job of furnishing reports and other clerical responsibilities in administration," Dr. Singletary pointed out in his report on some of the problems arising out of the study.

"He believes he needs additional training in courses like mathematics, accounting and other statistical aids to help him do the job at hand. Yet he realizes that a larger portion of his work should be supervisory," Dr. Singletary said. "Citizens of the community expect principals to be active in local organizations and be community leaders. He may occasionally play cards, attend movies and administer corporal punishment, but never drink and have outside employment."

Dr. Singletary also emphasized several implications for pre-service training of prospective women principals in his interpretation of the data revealing that although their number is small, women principals have superior training, yet on a whole their salaries are lower.

The material presented was on the basis of returns from 136 out of the 180 counties in Texas listed by the Texas Education Agency as having schools for Negroes. Within these counties, there are 346 superintendents with 936 Negro schools under their jurisdiction. The results of the study was based on returns from 280 superintendents or 51 percent of those contacted and 302 principals.

The replies to questionnaires prepared by the college research committee and including personal visitations represented schools in areas scattered over 136 counties ranging in size from the rural one-teacher school to the highly specialized urban centers. The data was arranged in geographical and population areas, most of which are located in East Texas, where the Negro population of the state is centered.

The research committee which sponsored this 23rd annual conference has been assisted by the Southwestern Cooperative Program in Educational Administration which has headquarters at the University of Texas. Dr. Henry Alves, Director of the CPEA and Dr. Ray Hall, Associate Director, were present for the conference and made remarks. It is the plan of the committee to continue an immediate follow-up program which will also receive the assistance of the CPEA.

President E.B. Evans, in presenting the speakers and purposes of the conference, expressed appreciation to the public school workers in attendance for their cooperation in these efforts by the college to improve its total services to the communities of the state.

Dr. W.R. Banks, President-emeritus, was in charge of the question period which followed presentations. Dr. Banks conceived the conference twenty-three years ago as a need of the Texas Negro in his effort to improve his conditions of living in the segregated pattern of the South.

Members of the Research committee include Drs. Woolfolk and Singletary, Dr. D.S. Yarbrough, head of the department of Sociology, Dr. J.M. Drew, Dean of Instruction, C. A. Wood, Director of Public Relations and Information, Dr. T.R. Solomon, Director of Admissions, and Mrs. Myrtle Davis, secretary to the committee.
