Regents Approve — System Faculty Ranks Set for Exchange Program

The Board of Regents last week approved the establishment of special Texas A&M University System faculty ranks for professors participating in the faculty exchange program initiated this fall between Prairie View and Texas A&M University.

Four faculty members from each institution received the initial system designations. The Prairie View faculty are Charles T. Edwards, Purvis Carter and Alfred Parks, all of whom are designated system associate professors, and Leon English, system assistant professor.

The faculty exchange program is part of an overall plan by the board to expand its efforts to provide equal educational opportunities by TAMUS institutions, said TAMUS Chancellor Frank W. R. Hubert.

The board also awarded a $103,000 contract to T.A.S. Construction Inc. of Austin to erect an equipment storage building at Prairie View's new track facility and appropriated $140,000 for design work for the university's proposed new industrial education and chemical engineering buildings.

Ms. Army ROTC — Not Just Another Queen

These days, being the Army ROTC queen, means much more than just being an intelligent person, and having a pretty face. For Gayla Elaine Turner, it is "a reason to seek out" and accomplish all avenues available, as an Army ROTC cadet first!

Gayla is from Houston, Texas, and is the oldest of the three daughters born to Mr. and Mrs. Warren Turner. She is also, the second battalion commander for the Panther Brigade, this year.

Ms. Turner is a senior electronics technology major, who enjoys challenges and doing "adventurous things." Labeled at the top of the list is her recent completion of the United States Army Airborne School, this past summer. In order to complete Airborne School, Gayla has to make five successful jumps from Army aircraft with a parachute. She is the only AROTC queen to be Airborne qualified.

Another high listing for Cadet Lieutenant Colonel

Turner, also occurred this past summer. She successfully completed the United States Army Advanced Camp, in fort Riley, Kansas. Not only did Gayla graduate, but she ranked number two in her platoon, where she competed against approximately 42 other cadets from all over the south and central U.S.

Among her activities, here at Prairie View, Ms. Turner is a potential industrial education honor society, one of four females in her department, a member of the Hamilton-Fearing Counter Guerrilla Company, and a distinguished Military Student.

In conclusion, when asked what advice she would give other female cadets who aspire to be Ms. Army ROTC, Gayla said, "Just be yourself, recognize the potentials you have, and never compromise your standards and goals in life." Most certainly, the Army ROTC queen, for 1981-82, is not just another queen.

Tri Beta News Inducting Ceremony Conducted

Congress May Balk at Further Cuts in Student Aid

The sky, having fallen on thousands of students, probably will not fall again on federal student aid. Domsday is not as imminent as threats by the Reagan Administration initially made it appear.

There have been reductions and there will be reductions. But the newest meat ax may well be arrested in midstroke by the Congress.

This comparative optimism stems from actions in the House, which already has made its feelings known by adopting an unexpectedly generous education aid budget, and in the Senate, where Republicans are challenging the President.

Senator Robert Stafford (R-VT), Chairman of the student air-controlling Subcommittee on Education, Arts and Humanities, told National Student Report:

"There are likely to be attempts to cut back further on financial aid programs, through the appropriations process or through the Second Budget Resolution. I believe these attempts will be unsuccessful. Eligibility tests are now in place which were not present in 1981. Proposals for tighter eligibility tests should be and will be repelled."

Earlier, the House adopted its Fiscal 1982 appropriations bill which would increase the Pell Grant's maximum to $1800 and the allowance for cost of attendance to $1200, although it would cut the Guaranteed Student Loan budget from $1.913 billion this year to $1.773 billion next year. Campus-based programs generally would be maintained at 1981 levels except for the National Defense Student Loan Program, which would rise to $286 million.

Senator Stafford is objecting to cuts in student aid which would be included in the President's 12 percent across-the-board reductions in domestic programs, at a time when a 20 percent increase would only keep pace with inflation. The Administration's viewpoint was expressed by Budget Director David Stockman:

"I do not accept the notion that the federal government has an obligation to fund generous grants to anybody that wants to go to college. It seems to me that if people want to go to college bad enough, then there is opportunity and responsibility on their part to finance their way through the best they can."

Blood Drive is A Success

The Blood drive held at the Owens-Franklin Health Center in Prairie View November was a success.

During the drive, 160 people registered to donate; however, 49 were temporarily disqualified for medical reasons and 111 were accepted. St. Luke's hospital and personnel from the health center would like to thank everyone for their contribution.

The first golf course and country club in Texas was established at Galveston in 1898.

Deltas Urge Voters to Register

The Prairie View Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. sponsored a successful voter registration drive during the month of November. There were several on-campus and community registration sites manned by student volunteers and members of the sorority. Additional voter registration activities are scheduled for the months of January and February, 1982. Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, a public service sorority, urges all eligible voters to register and exercise their right to vote!

Future Lawyers At LBJ School

The Political Science Department nominated four students to attend the distinguished L.B.J. School of Public Affairs at the University of Texas, for a three day minority student conference during November 19. The school selected all four students based on their academic overall G.P.A. and Leadership potential. The students were Hedy Ratcliff, Carlos Pierott, Kelvin Lusk, and Bill Moore. They joined the several more students selected throughout the state of Texas as most likely candidates for admission into the prestigious graduate school.

In addition, the conference was designed to encourage and assist students in attending the L.B.J. school. The school provides fellowships for minority students totaling more than $5,000 per year.

Furthermore, the L.B.J. School has received international attention for its celebrated faculty, which includes former Congressman Barbara Jordan. The school also has three joint degree programs that enable students to earn a masters and doctorate degree at the same time. The joint degree program

Band News

The Prairie View marching "super band" performed its last halftime show on Saturday, November 21, 1981 at Robertson Stadium in Houston, TX. The "Super Band" and TSU's "Ocean of Soul" are old rivals and this halftime like the ones before it, set the stage for the "Battle of the Bands"

Since we were the home team, PV's band performed first while TSU's band watched anxiously from the sideline.

Our show included a sound explosion from our "In the Stone" fanfare by Earth, Wind and Fire. Following the fanfare we did a precision downfield drill to "You" by Frankie Beverly and Maze and "Lets Groove" by E.W.&F.

To show off the musicianship of the band and satisfy the ear of the audience, the band played "Sweet Baby" by Stanley Clark and George Duke and "We're in this Love Together" by Al Jerro. Next came our chance to dance where we performed a precision dance routine to the hit tune entitled "Bad Mamma Jamma" by Carl Carlton. Last the band featured its majorettes, the "Black Foxes, who lighted up the night in their dazzling new uniforms and danced to the tune made famous by Quincy Jones called "Razzamatuzz". Next to perform was the "Ocean of Soul" They did a good show, but it lacked precision and excitement that PV's show had.

During the third quarter another battle was about to begin between the "PV Mack Funk Box" and Texas Southern percussion section. These sections are also old rivals and it was time for their showdown. Unfortunately for the Mack Funk Box but luckily for them. TSU's percussion section failed to respond to their calling. So leaving somewhat disappointed, the Mack Funk Box headed back to the home side and performed their show on our sideline.

The bandmembers, majorettes, cheerleaders and our feature twiller were proud to represent our university and we are especially proud of our band staff. This includes Mr. William F. McQueen, III, our triumphant and ever so patient band director, Mr. George Edwards, our multi-talented assistantband director and arranger, Ms. Margaret Penn Sherrod, the cultivated sponsor of the majorettes and cheerleaders, Mr. Larry Jones, the devoted percussion section sponsor and Dr. L. Wyatt and the instrument staff for their dedicated work in taking care of the instruments. Last but not least, we would like to give thanks to our God for seeing us safely on our trips and

Student Poetry Well Received

Miss Black (one of two parts) is one of the most noted poetry selections among professional judges. And to no surprise it has gained national recognition. After being in the limelight since the middle of last year, Miss Black is beginning to take America by surprise. Getting a special and rewarding endorsement by the American Collegiate Poet Anthology also gaining respect from the National Poetry Press. However, the poetry was put through the real test earlier this year. It was selected as one of the thousand poetry selections (which were selected from a stack of over 300,000) that will appear in this year's edition of the college poetry review. Gaining a spot in the review set Miss Black up for one of the most recognized and prestigious volume of contemporary poetry, "PEGASUS" a book of excellence. A book that's not only used to expose the authors work, but the author as well.

The author is Christopher Willis a 22 year old Senior Majoring in Mass Communications from New Orleans.

MISS BLACK

I consider myself as Miss University and will carry myself accordingly.

I'll be quick to say no to the temptation you may offer

I'll not belittle myself for the sake of your car, nor will I dress to your desire

I'll strive for the highest goal possible and do anything within reason to achieve it.

I'll be your friend and teacher, not your lover or follower

I'll be no other person than myself.

Holiday Temporary Work Has Lot To Offer

After enduring the pressure of final exams, college students will be looking forward to semester break, but not to scraping up enough money to enjoy it. Many arrive home too late to be hired by retailers as sales help for the holiday season. College students can, however, still learn while they earn through temporary work assignments.

Temporary work offers more than money in the student's pocket. Career-minded students can gain practical experience and an education beyond the classroom through a variety of work assignments, particularly those in the office.

Ron Kapche, owner of Manpower's Houston area office, said, "Most of our skilled clerical temporary employees are working mothers who stay home during the holiday season, and we need students to take their place as office workers in many businesses through the country. Students who have typed their own term papers may have the basic requirements for simple office assignments. They earn money for next semester while making business contacts for permanent jobs following graduation."

Although many students may not consider themselves "office material," Manpower is often able to discover hidden skills, valuable for office work that many never knew they had. Manpower's Predictable Performance System of interviewing and testing evaluates these skills, plus work attitudes, preferences, and past experience to accurately match workers with assignments in which they will feel comfortable and perform well.

Wages for temporary assignments vary from area to area, but are competitive with entry-level wages for permanent jobs. The exact wage a temporary will earn depends on his/her work-ready skills.

Miller High Life To Sponsor One-On-One Tournament

College Students who usually sit in the stands and dream of being Dr. J. or Pete Maravich, will get a chance to bring their fantasies to life when the Miller Brewing Company and Kristen Distributors bring their Miller High Life One-On-One Basketball Tournament to Prairie View's Campus.

Open to any graduate or undergraduate students who have not lettered on collegiate basketball; the One-On-One preliminaries will be staged in the Girl's Gym January 14 starting at 6 p.m.

Participants will engage in a five minute basketball game, with the first player to score ten points, or leading by at least two points, declared the winner. Finalists play at halftime of the Panthers home games.

The winner will receive
See TOURNAMENT, page 4-A

There are other important advantages to working as a temporary. Besides the experience of working in a variety of job environments, students gain valuable information on which to base career choices. They acquire first-hand information about skills required for specific jobs, the demand for those skills, and the latest trends in office technology. It also offers the opportunity to make important business contacts and earn recommendations which lead to a foot in the door during post-graduation job hunting.

The idea of working during vacation may not be appealing to students, even though they may need the money. A final advantage of temporary work is its flexible schedule. Students may work as few or as many days a week as they desire, leaving time to enjoy vacation.

For more information on becoming a Manpower temporary employee, contact Ron Kapche in Bellaire at 6750 West Loop South, Suite 800 or call (713) 661-2000.

A subsidiary of Parker Pen Company, Manpower annually provides employment to over 300,000 persons through its 510 U. S. offices. Office services account for more than half of the jobs at which its temporary work force is engaged.

When the guys at Miller asked me to write an ad on writing, I said, "Forget it. Not even if you held a gun to my head." So they held a bottle of Lite Beer to my mouth. They're a pretty persuasive group.

THUGS TO MUGS

If you're going to write anything, know what you're talking about. And that means three things: Research, research, and more research. The more you know, the more you can tell your reader.

Take my characters. A lot of them I base on actual people. There's this buddy of mine who pops up in every book I write. In one story he's a cop. In another, a private eye. Once, I made him a millionaire. Using him not only helped make character development a heck of a lot easier, he was so carried away by the rich image, he bought me a lot of free dinners (and a lot of Lite Beer from Miller). So use the people you know as models.

Even locations should be based on real things. If you're writing about a bar, know that bar. Hang out there. Watch the bartender. The customers. Whatever they drink, you drink. When they drink Lite Beer, you drink Lite Beer. Remember—research is most fun when you soak up as much subject matter as you can. It can only help you paint a better picture.

HI, DOLL

No caper is complete without dames (or ladies in proper English). Experience has shown me that in mystery writing, the sexier the dames, the better. Experience has also shown me that sexy scenes make great punctuation marks. This is where research has the greatest potential. Use your own discretion in this matter. But when you write about it, don't be too explicit. That way, your reader gets to paint a more vivid picture.

CAPER TO PAPER

O.K., you've got your characters, locations, and dames lined up. Now comes the good part: Putting your caper to paper. There's no mystery to it. As long as you write the ending first, the rest will follow. Write short, terse, to-the-point sentences. Be as clear as possible. And make sure you've got the right stuff around for when you get thirsty. After all, writing is pretty thirsty work.

I suggest a couple of mugs of Lite Beer—who ever heard of a caper that didn't involve a couple of mugs?

Why Lite Beer? It's a lot like me and my books—great taste, less filling (some people can't get their fill of my books), and always good to spend time with.

At any rate, follow my advice and, who knows—you might turn out to be a heck of a story. Or you might turn out to be a heck of a Lite Beer drinker.

Black Spiritual Leaders Look To The Future

PV-ites Rev. Hill To Lead Chicago '81 December Gathering

The countdown has begun for a massive national conference for black evangelical Christians — perhaps the largest ever of its kind — scheduled for late December in Chicago.

Leaders of the gathering, "Chicago '81: A Critical Moment in Black America," believe that now is the time to "establish spiritual direction and new priorities for black America in the decade of the '80's."

A number of leading black evangelical spokesmen will address an estimated 2,000 to 3,000 conferees expected for "Chicago '81" December 27-31. Campus Crusade for Christ is coordinating the event.

"Denominationalism will play no role whatsoever," says the Rev. E. V. Hill of Los Angeles, one of the most influential pastors in black America today. "We simply want to seek to apply biblical solutions to some of the most plaguing problems of our society."

Besides Hill, an impressive lineup of speakers for the event includes Crawford Loritts, of Atlanta, a popular campus lecturer and national coordinator of Campus Crusade's Here's Life, Inner City ministry; Haman Cross, of Detroit's Afro-American Mission; Willie Richardson, founder and pastor of Christian Stronghold Baptist Church in Philadelphia; and Dr. Bill Bright, president, and founder of Campus Crusade, which is based in San Bernardino.

While much of the content of "Chicago '81" will deal with crucial challenges confronting blacks in this decade, the conference is expected to have high artistic appeal, too.

Gospel musician Eddie Robinson, a singer, composer, recording producer and arranger, and Deborah Maize, a talented soloist, will perform for conferees. Soul Liberation, a popular Dallas music group, will also be part of the program.

Portraying inner cities as "time bombs waiting to explode" because of chronic unemployment, racial strife and other ills, leaders of the interdenominational "Chicago '81" contend that efforts to deal with surface problems of blacks through legislation have met with disappointing results.

Thus, they say, blacks must be equipped to deal with root problems — through the enablement of the person of Jesus Christ.

"The deepest needs of black America are spiritual; therefore, the solution must be spiritual," notes a brochure that gives details of "Chicago '81."

Loritts, chairman of the conference planning committee, sees several developments that must occur in order for spiritual renewal to become a reality.

"Black America's future hinges on three things," he says.

"First, receptivity on the part of the black church to the spiritual awakening God wants to send.

"Second, a responsiveness on the part of the unchurched to proclamation of the gospel message.

"And, third, the long-term commitment on the part of a significant number of black Christians to become a part of the missionary forces, both in this country and overseas."

According to Tom Fritz, "Chicago '81" program director, seminars will cover topics such as the "how to's" of communicating the gospel as well as social action and financial management. Workshops will include such areas as inner city missions, the black family, Christian education, and counseling.

Motivated by the belief that no Christian revival has ever had far-reaching implications in black America, Loritts and other "Chicago '81" organizers want to concentrate on practical ways in which conferees can effectively reach the world for Christ.

Conference organizers consider "Chicago '81" especially important for giving conferees a personal vision for how God can use them as leaders, while they tap into a vast pool of resources as they meet with speakers and delegates at the five-day event.

Cost for "Chicago '81" is $75 for singles, which includes lodging for four nights at the Chicago Marriott Hotel downtown, a $20 non-refundable registration fee, conference materials, a special banquet and two concerts. For couples, the amount is $130. Commuter cost is $40.

Additional expenses include meals, ground transportation and recreational activities, which could total about $125. Air fares are not included in the cost estimates.

Think of a ship as a corporation, and it's not farfetched at all. A destroyer may have fifteen officers, other ships even fewer. Even the most junior officer gets to share in running the show.

You become part of the management team when you get your commission as an ensign after just 16 weeks of leadership training at Officer Candidate School.

Choose to be a Navy officer and you are responsible for people and equipment almost immediately. Many officers go on for further advanced schooling. The Navy has literally dozens of fields for its officers — everything from nuclear propulsion to systems analysis, oceanography to inventory management. In graduate school, this training would cost you thousands, but in the Navy, we pay you.

For more information about this unique opportunity call GUARD at 2310, 2314 or drop by the Navy ROTC Department, third floor Spence Hall.

There's no obligation, and you'll learn about an excellent way to start a career in management. As a college graduate you can get management experience in any industry. But you'll get it sooner — and more of it — in the Navy.

The Weekend College

The Weekend College is a dream come true for the working person, says Ona Mae McMillan, Secretary for Motivation, Education, and Training, Inc.

McMillan, originally from Bryan, moved here in 1972, recently divorced, and decided it wasn't too late to accomplish the dream she had always wanted to do: finish college.

Bachelor of Arts Degrees in Sociology.

Mrs. McMillan has six hours toward her Master's and will return this fall to work on her Master's Degree/Teachers Certification.

She wished more young people would get involved in this program. It is the ideal program for the individual who works during the week, and can't afford to quit and attend full-time.

Basic Educational Opportunity Grants (BEOG) are available to those who can't afford the tuition.

Prairie View A&M University also sends a bus on Saturdays to transport the students to school.

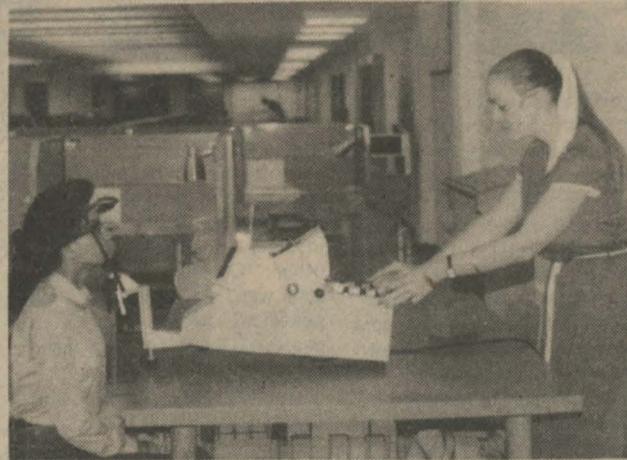

No one should let such an excellent opportunity like this pass them by.

McMillan says, "I'm a firm believer in the Weekend College" Program, and most host heartedly recommend it.

PV Winter Relays Start 1981-82 Track Season

By Henry Hawkins Track coaches Hoover Wright and Ms. Barbara Jacket will get an early look at track prospect when Prairie View hosts the 9th Annual Prairie View Winter Relays Saturday on the Blackshear Field Track.

Field events start at 11:30 a.m. and running events 30 minutes later.

Coach Wright said he expected around 10 teams and more than 100 runners to participate in the meet. Teams expected include Texas Southern, Houston, Baptist, Grambling, Wiley College, Blinn Junior College, San Jacinto Junior College and Wharton Junior College in addition to several outstanding track and field performers who will be running unattached to any school.

Runners will compete in two divisions - men and women - with no high school runners entered, Wright said. "It will be a run for fun meet with no prizes given. We run many of the individual races at off distances to give the cross-country people a chance to show the top condition they were in during their season."

There will still be plenty of competition based on previous meets. Texas Southern won three relays in last years meet in the men's division - the distance medley 3200 meter and 1600 meter relays. Their female counterparts also won the 3200 meter relay but Prairie View won the feature race in the women's division, the 1600 meter relay with Maryann Higgs, Loretta Edwards, Sheila LaBome and Easter Gabriel.

Edwards is a senior from Houston, LaBome and Gabriel both juniors from Houston and Higgs a sophomore from Nassau, Bahamas. Those four will be the spark of Ms. Jacket's team including Karen Waddell, last years NAIA winner in the shot but in both the outdoor and indoor national championships.

Waddell, from Memphis, Tenn., also won the shot put in last years Winter Relays throwing the shot 45 10. As a freshmen, two years ago, she was one of five Pantherette double winners winning the shot put and discus throw in the Winter Relays.

Tight end Randall King led all receivers with six catches for 59 yards.

The kickoff return dual between Panther freshman Rand, who was leading the SWAC and Tiger senior Carl Williams never materialized.

Meanwhile, the Panthers were stymied in the first half committing two costly turnovers, a fumble by Jerry Rand at the Tigers' 21 yard line and quarterback Maurice Mitchell threw an interception.

Misfortune continued to plague Prairie View in the second half. Trailing 13-0 in the third quarter the Panthers gambled on fourth down and one at their own 38 yard line.

Donald Allen was the work horse for the Tigers as he carried the ball 23 times for a game high 118 yards. He also had an eight yard scoring run.

University of Houston entered the Championship game by defeating a big and fast team from Prairie View A&M University.
